WHAT DOES IT ALL MEAN? . . .

3 years — 540 days — $1/25$ of your life. It's more than just time, it's what you make of it . . . It's how you mold the abstract into the concrete. How you distinguish reality from fantasy, and how you transform fleeting seconds into lasting memories.

It's how you act, how you react, how you interact . . .

It's getting to 3 club meetings in one activity period. It's not knowing your bus number because you haven't ridden it home enough times to remember it.

It's being the only kid at your lunch table to have a green, pink, orange, and blue cafeteria card . . .

It's complaining because guys are allowed to wear blue jeans and girls aren't. It's skating around the business wing in a new typing chair . . .

It's coming to school with a sprained ankle and having your friends carry you around because you haven't learned to manipulate your crutches.

It's being "in" . . . or being lonely. Being unique . . . or being a mirror. Being yourself . . . or being what Society demands.

It's missing the gold team by two tenths of a second.

It's feeling confident that you made it through another of Mr. Stanley's Physics tests until you hear there were only 3 A's, no B's, 2 C's . . .

It's sticking it out all year on the football team, even though you never got to play. It's working to perceive as well as to achieve.

What does it all mean? We think we know . . . we're not really sure . . . But that's why we're here — to try and find out.

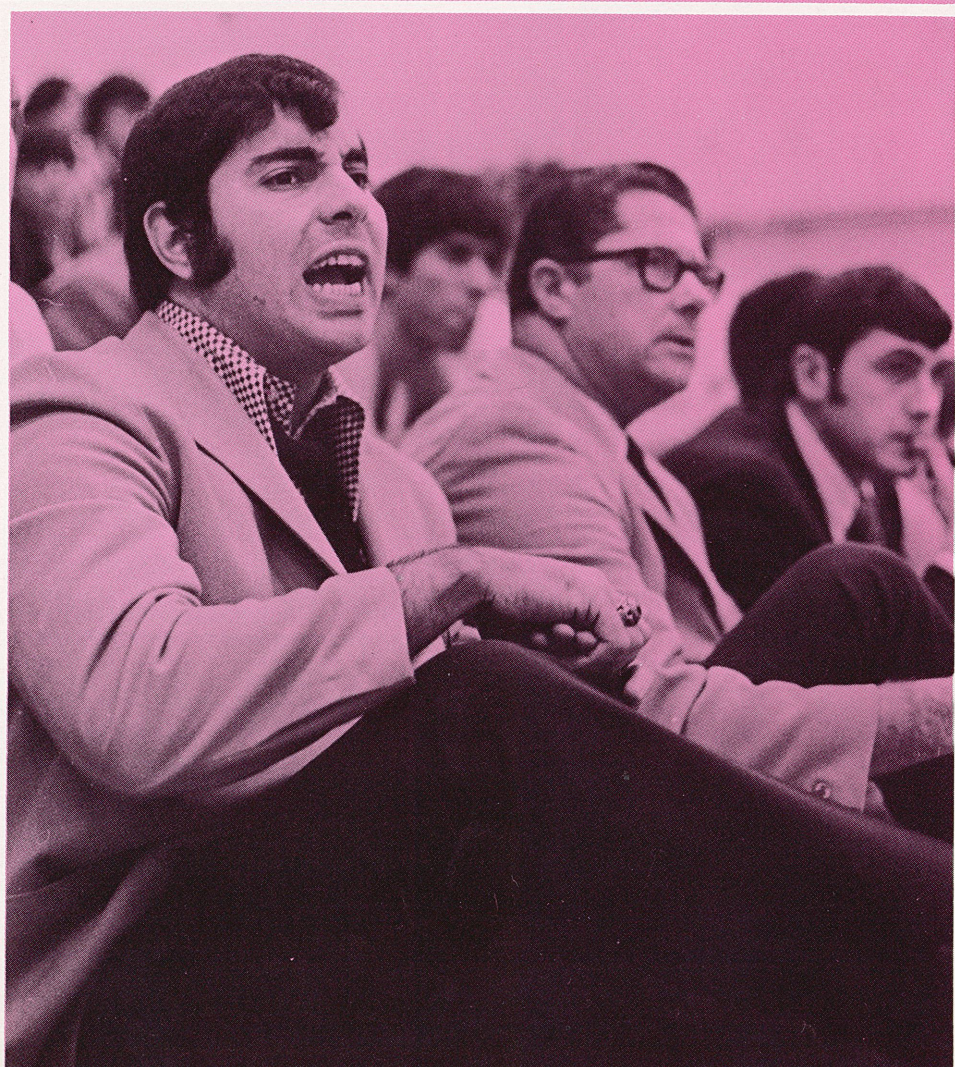

MOODS . . .

They're the basis of our actions, the result of our emotions and surroundings. They're being happy and feeling like you can conquer the world at one moment and being angry and feeling like you just tried to conquer the world at the next. They're the walking-on-air attitude when that special guy waits for you after class.

"I'm usually in a good mood in the morning — all my major subjects are in the afternoon."

Karen Cesario

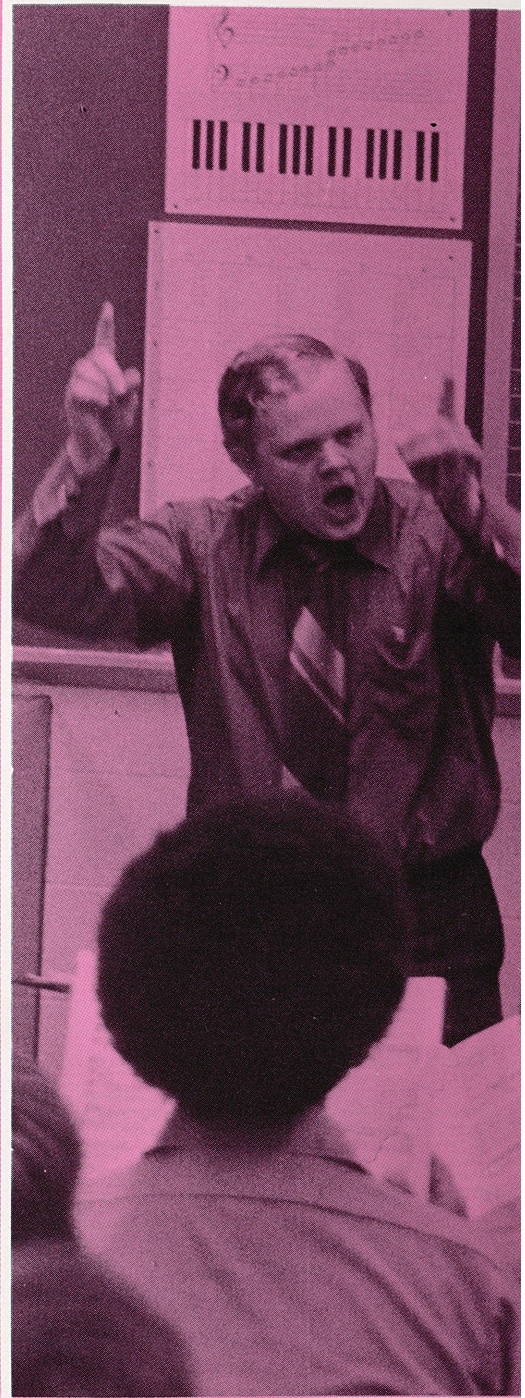

They're slamming your locker and throwing all your books on the floor because you're right and they're wrong! They're the results of our personalities, the effects of people's words and actions, the build-up of emotions. They're the feeling of the moment — But
What does it all mean?

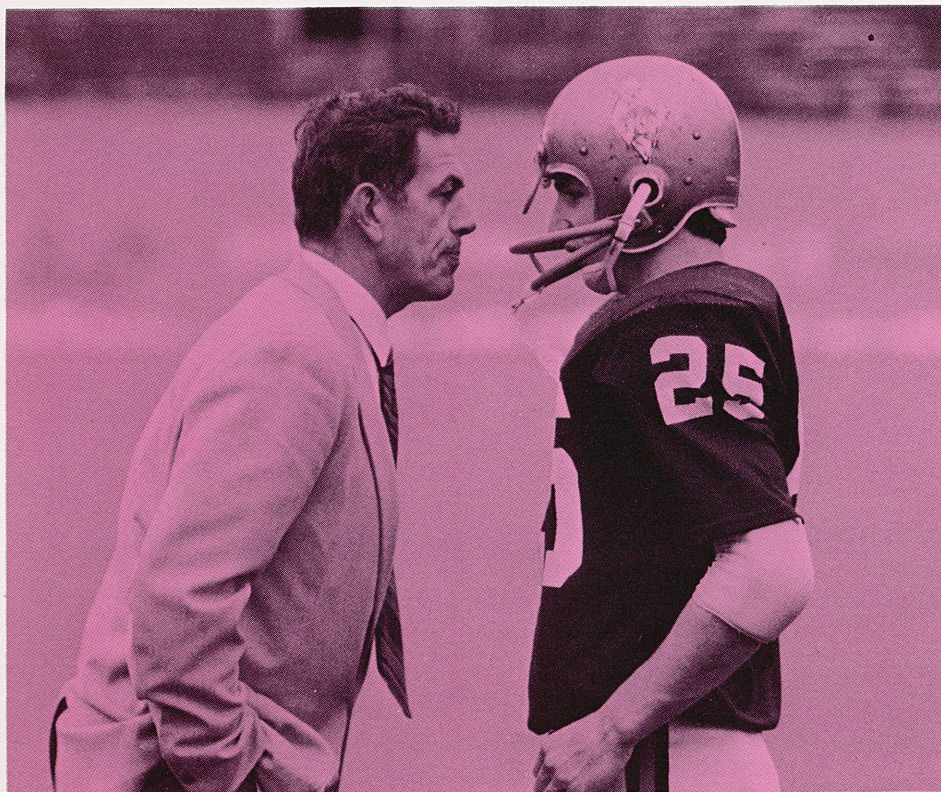

Right: The fact that basketball coaches are confined to the bench doesn't keep Mr. Intrieri from becoming emotionally involved in the game.

Left: A line-up of cheerleaders, a gym filled with fans, a fired-up team — all anticipate a Kiski victory.

LONELINESS . . .

You feel alone . . . yet you're surrounded by 1732 other students.

What does it all mean?

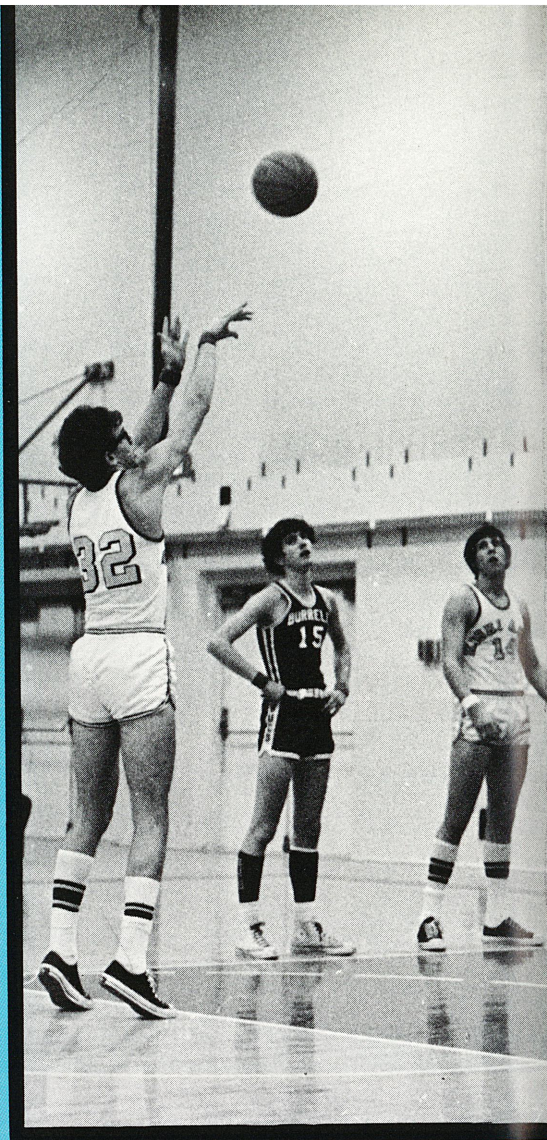

It's missing all your old "lunch table buddies" because you got the wrong color ticket.

It's 30 seconds before the big test, and suddenly you realize that no one can pull you through this one.

"Loneliness is one of the first experiences felt by a sophomore. All around you are happy juniors and seniors — strangers giving you the once-over.
Bells precede pushing and shouting of many people.
But who are they?"

Cherise Moore

It's standing at the foul line, feeling that the team's fate depends on your two points.
It's fleeting seconds when all your friends have other friends, other moments detached from your own, and you alone have no one, nothing . . .
What does it all mean?

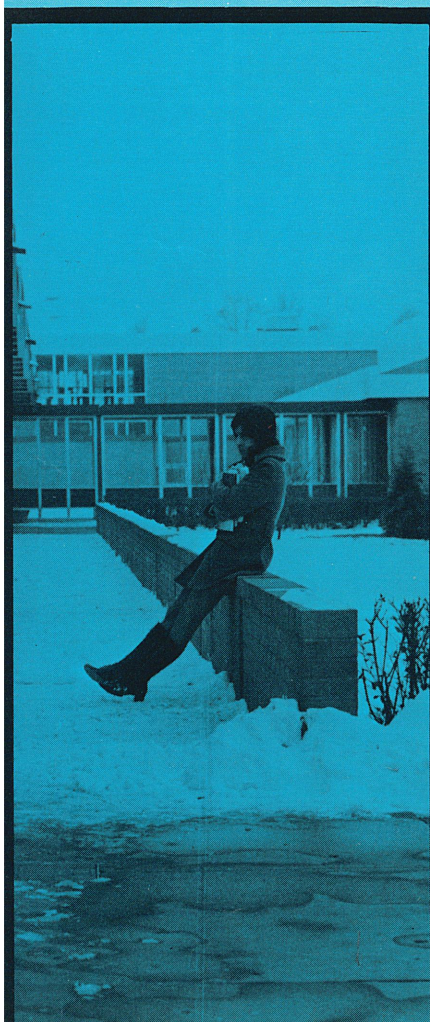

Oblivious to the surrounding clamor of the cafeteria,
Cheryl George withdraws into her own world.

Above: As members of the marching band mill around before a half-time performance, Jim Rairigh strikes a lonely pose contemplating his part in the upcoming show.

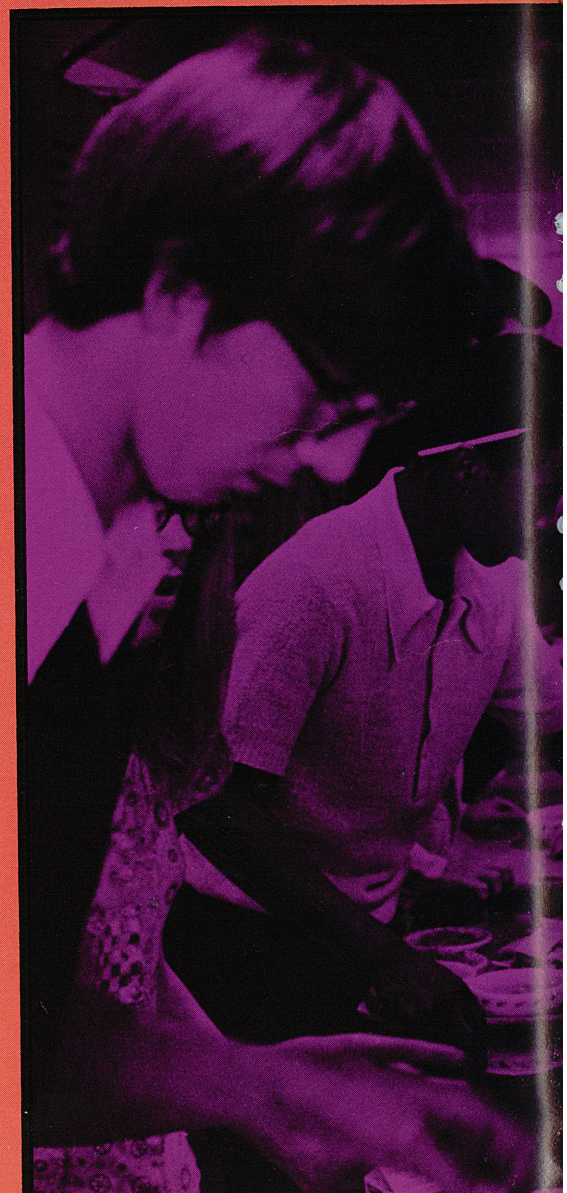

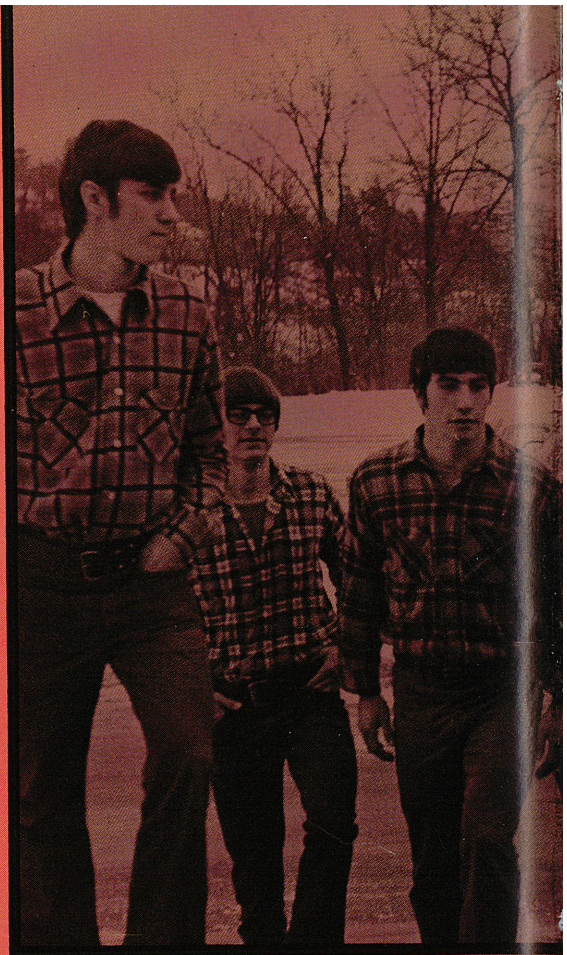

Left: On a lonely winter evening, Marion Scripps silently meditates as she waits for her ride home.

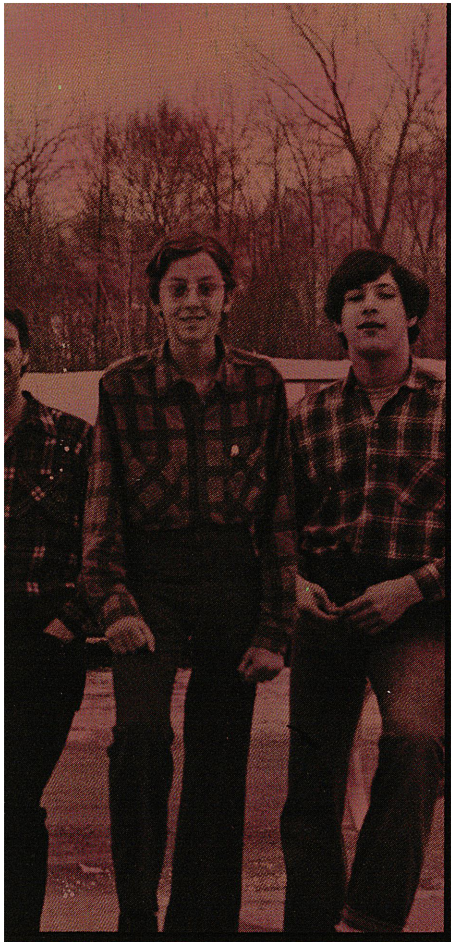

Conformity, as well as comfort, is exemplified by these flannel shirts which proved to be this winter's latest fad.

Psychologists call it a basic reaction to a common stimulus.
We call it a conforming reaction to boredom — or, sleep.

Stacks of trays, rows of identical hoagies, and rigid lines of unimpressed students comprise the uniformity and sameness of daily lunch.

Even legs conform, as bell-bottom clad senior boys form a chorus line during an outdoor pep assembly.

CONFORMITY . . .

It's changing oneself to fit the common mold. It's carrying a "villager" and wearing weejons. It's learning to dance like everyone else so you don't feel left out at the dances. It's wearing blue jeans and flannel shirts.

"Unconformity always leads to heartache and trouble.
Conformity is the easy way."

Mr. Coffman

It's using the same slang — "You best go 'head!" "Go pack a lunch!" It's listening to James Taylor, Carol King, and John Lennon on KQV, WIXZ, and WDVE. It's when you and your best friend begin to look alike.

What does it all mean?
It's complying to be accepted as equal.

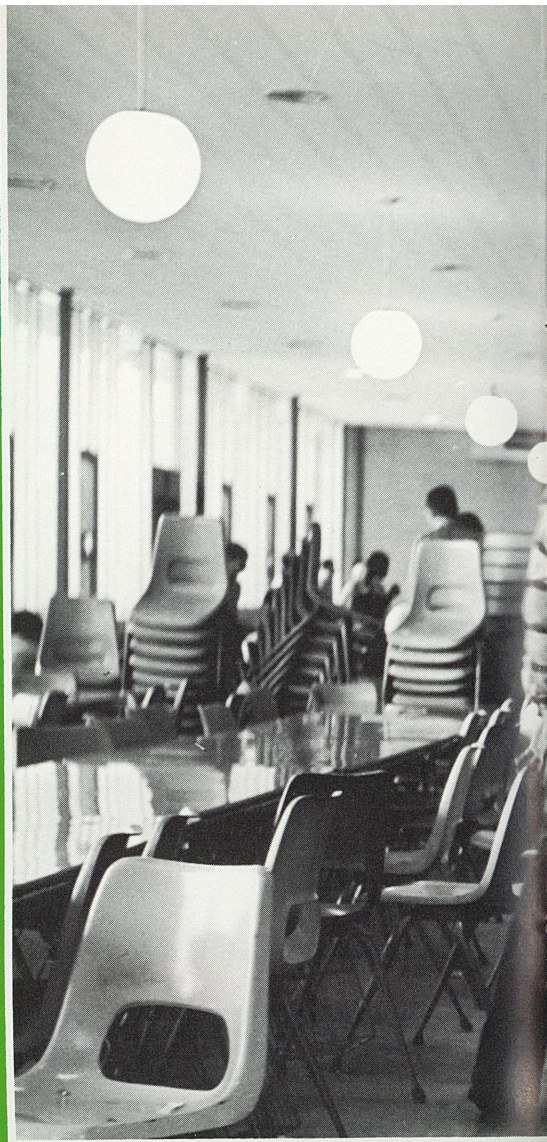

INDIVIDUALITY . . .

That quality which distinguishes us from others.

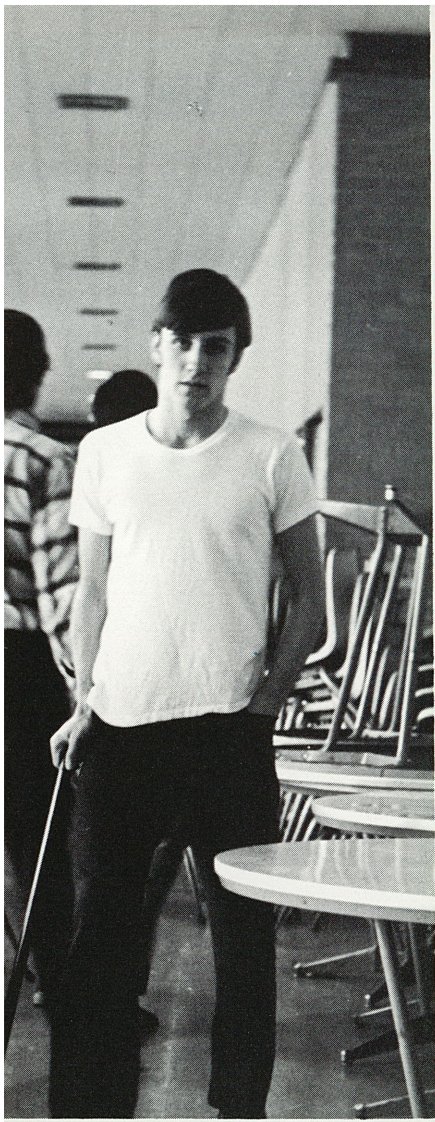

When the average person does something new, he looks back to see if anybody is following him. If no-one follows him, he returns. An individual doesn't look back.

Melanie Scheid

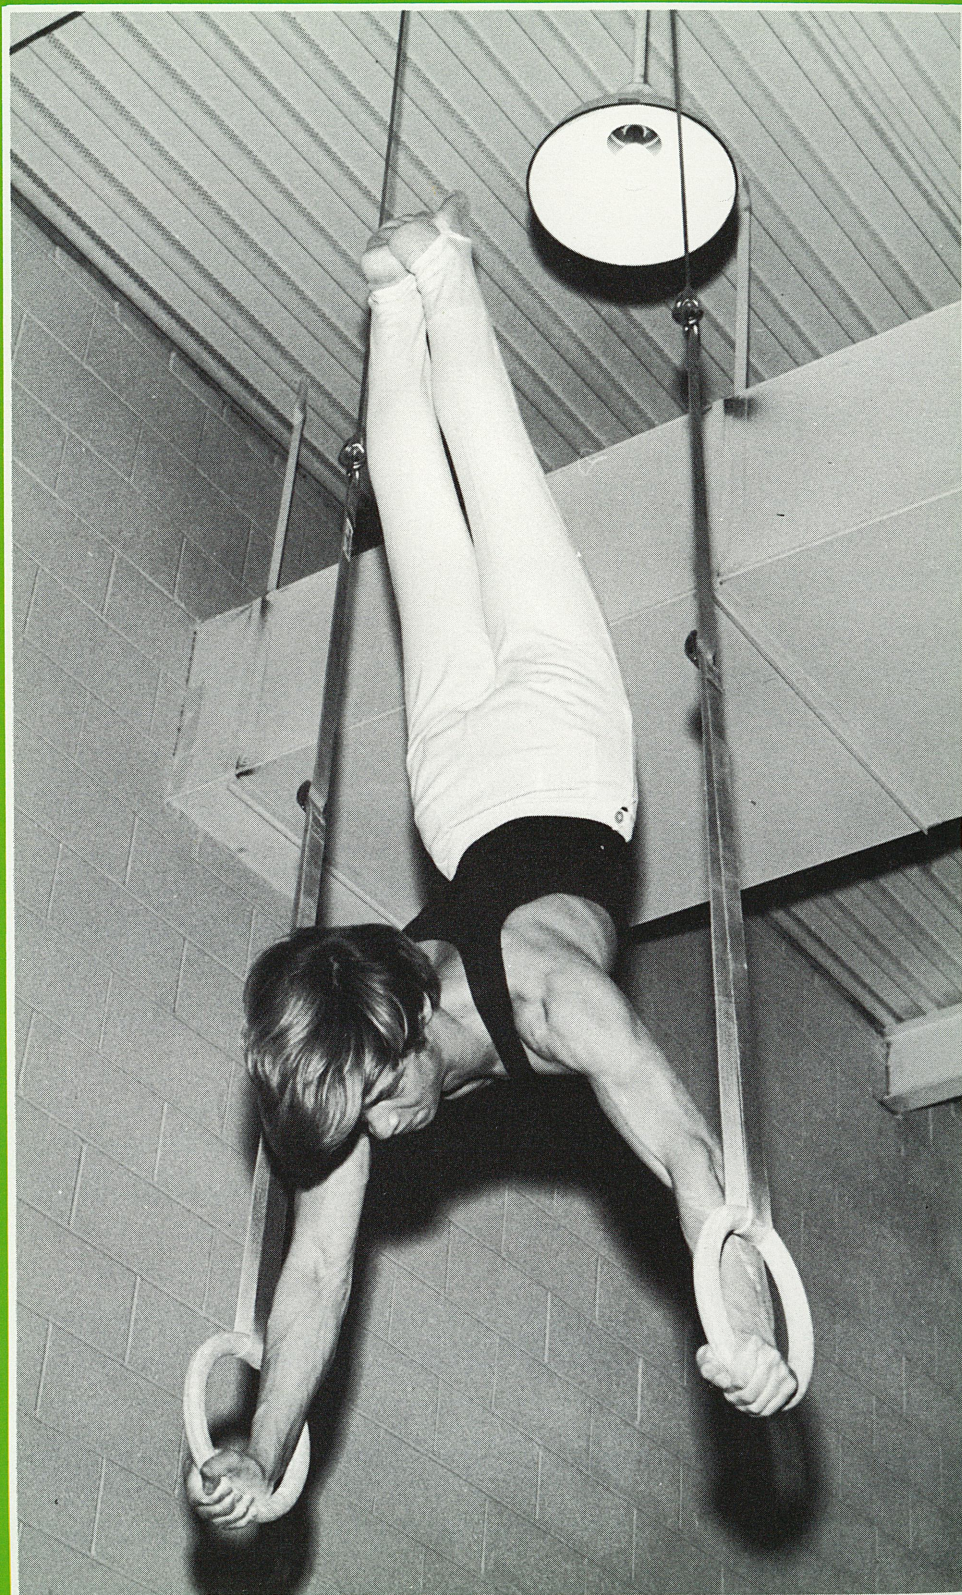

It's choosing between being on a team or getting a haircut, meeting responsibilities or having a good time. It's going to the library on Thursday night to do a Cultures report instead of going downtown to see what's happening. It's making your own clothes and knowing that nobody else dresses exactly like you. It's bringing Blueberry Babyfood to eat at lunchtime because you like it. It's ignoring rumors out of respect for another's individuality. It's emphasizing the subtle rather than stressing the obvious. What does it all mean: It's that quality which lets you be you.

ABOVE: Expressing his individuality by not conforming, Harvey Fishel sports a crew-cut among an array of long-locked peers.

Hobbling through the cafeteria, Dennis Kish, the only star basketball player at Kiski with a broken ankle, displays his hard-earned individuality.

ABOVE: Gymnastics is a truly individual sport, as is portrayed by Ray Chlodney in his performance on the still rings.

LEFT: Long hair is no problem in gym class for Sam Cannella who exhibits his individuality by wearing the latest men's hair style — pigtails.

Joe Lynch (75) agrees quite emphatically with the referee that Larry Wilson (40) has scored.

ENTHUSIASM . . .

It's a succulent word or power. It's the excitement of emotion coupled with a rush of purpose. It's a powerhouse of want and desire spiced with a genuine, positive attitude. It's the smile on someone's face on a Monday morning.

Enthusiasm is a sore throat after a football game.

It's a group of band kids overpowering the cheerleaders with

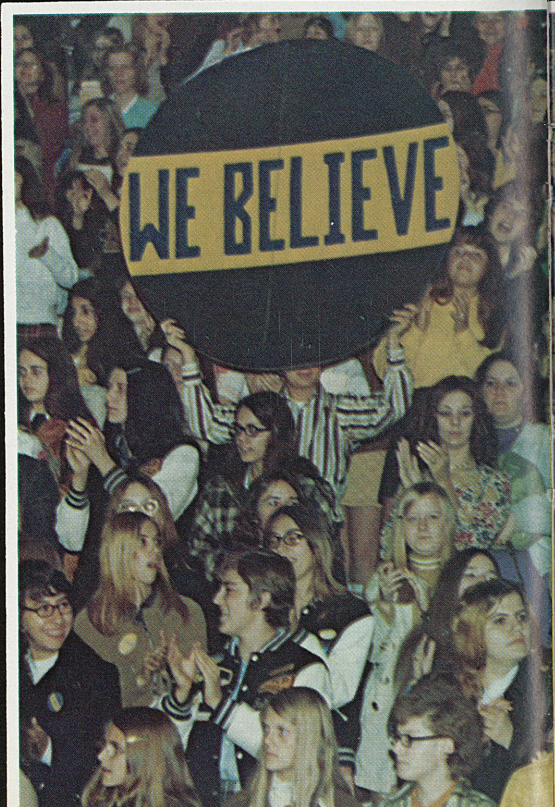

"Ugh! Ungawa! Kiski's got the power!"

It's a bright, sunny outlook and determination upon attacking a class project. It's a teacher who keeps the class alive. It's the thrill of campaigning for senior class elections.

"Enthusiasm is a fire burning in one's mind in which happiness and excitement are mixed together."

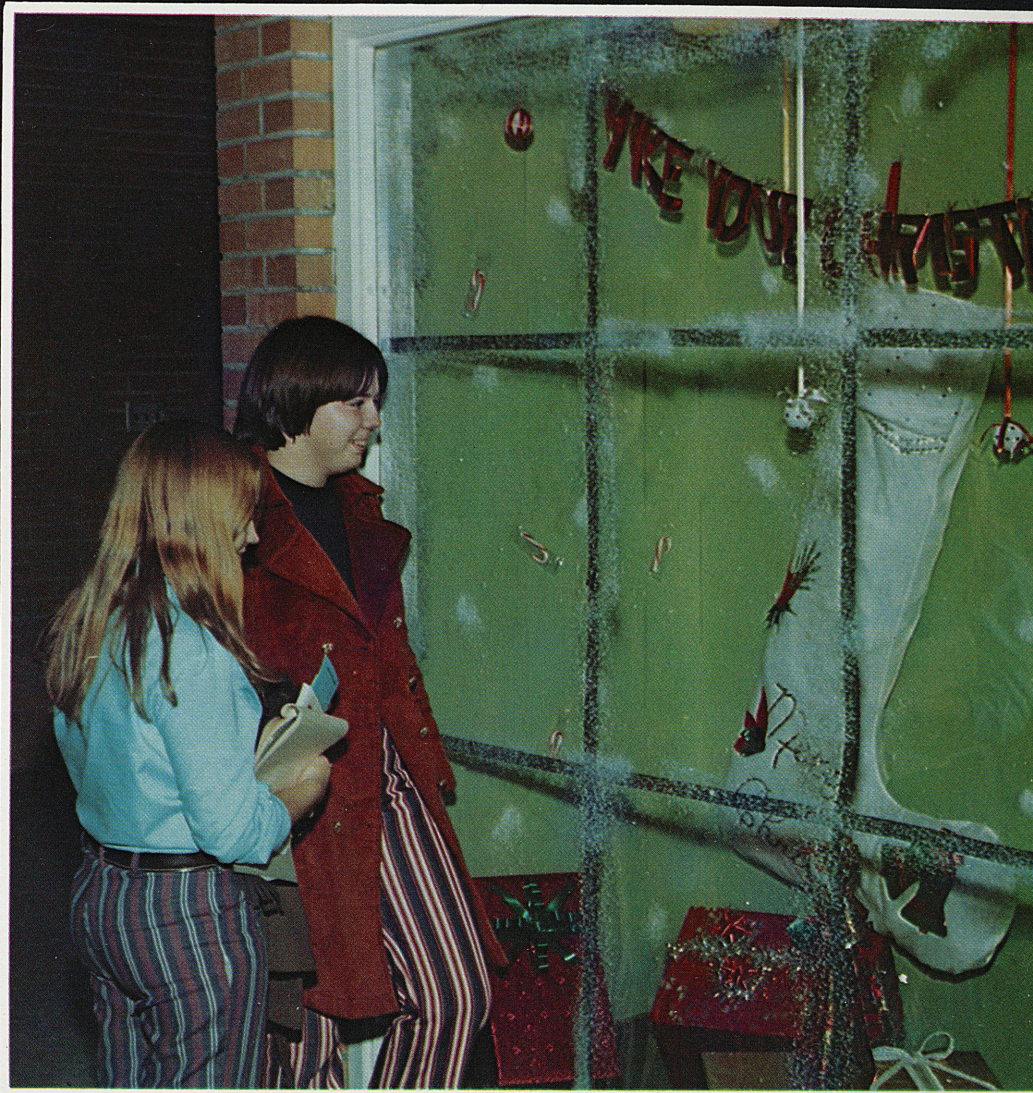

Li Lin Lee

Enthusiasm is all of these . . . What does it mean? We clear our apathetic minds a moment, dribble the word back and forth, and bounce it against the blackboard, exploding its real meaning: That which makes a hard job seem easy.

Enthusiasm is shown on the faces of the crowd during the "AA" Championship game, as the team successfully gains extra yardage.

Enthusiastic about the Season of Christmas, Mary Ann Zanotti and Vicki Kline share the Christmas spirit by enjoying the decorated Home Ec display window.

At a Friday pep rally, members of the student body enthusiastically cheer the football team on to victory.

It's human emotions, honestly feeling, caring, listening.

But more important is the part undefined . . .

It's a shared locker and an avalanche of notebooks, tennis shoes, and smashed lunchbags.

It's trading a "ham and cheese" for an "egg salad" and fighting your way to buy milk for those five loafers back at the table.

It's a phone call to a friend who's not in school, just to ask him if he is really sick!

It's helping a friend with algebra and ending up "BSing" about the guy who sits next to you in "Man in Conflict."

"When we got married I had $100 and my wife had $100. Now I have $200 and she has me."

Mr. Barsic

Friendship . . .

It's abstract, it's tangible, it's nothing . . .
until two people "get it together".

Seeming to feel no reluctance in sharing their ideas with Mrs. DeSantis, Patty Ripple and Susan Froncek prove that friendship can be a quality to bridge the generation gap.

Friendship needs nourishment. Angie Callipare and Roxanne Bennett discuss the A.A. awards celebration while sharing cinnamon rolls and orange drink supplied by Mr. Miller.

A lone student contrasts the vastness of the new library in Kiski's expansion program.

Right: Taking advantage of the library's new sound system, Denise Millberger and Mickey Horvat listen to Rod McKuen while doing their "Elements of Research".

As the student population increases, the overflow is caught in the new cafeteria during Sophomore lunch period.

Typing I students enjoy the full benefits of Kiski's expansion for they learn in carpeted, air-conditioned rooms.

EXPANSION . . .

It's growth, development, old transformed into new.

It's 6,000 square feet of books, magazines, Readers' Guides and "Notre Dame furniture," otherwise know as the new library.

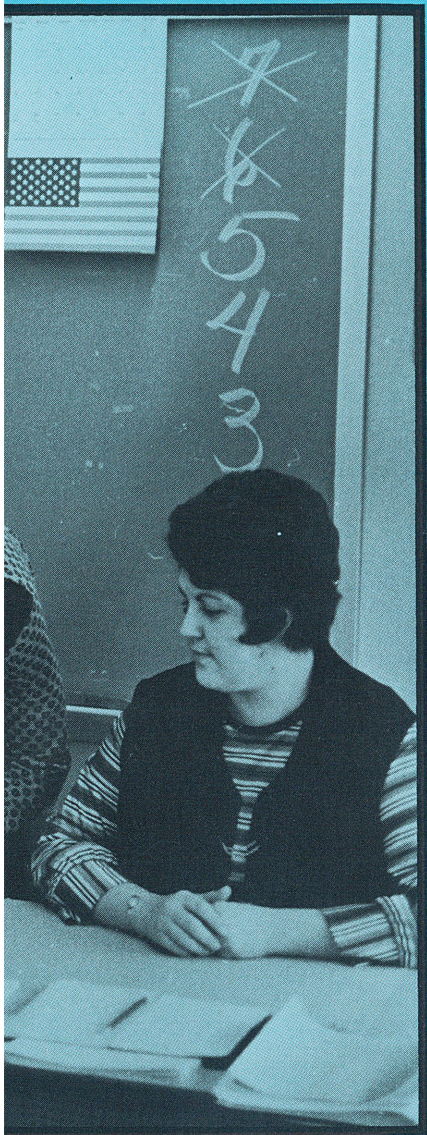

It's air conditioning that was supposed to work in October . . . November . . . December . . .

"At Kiski there's so many people with so many ideas, you can't help expanding."

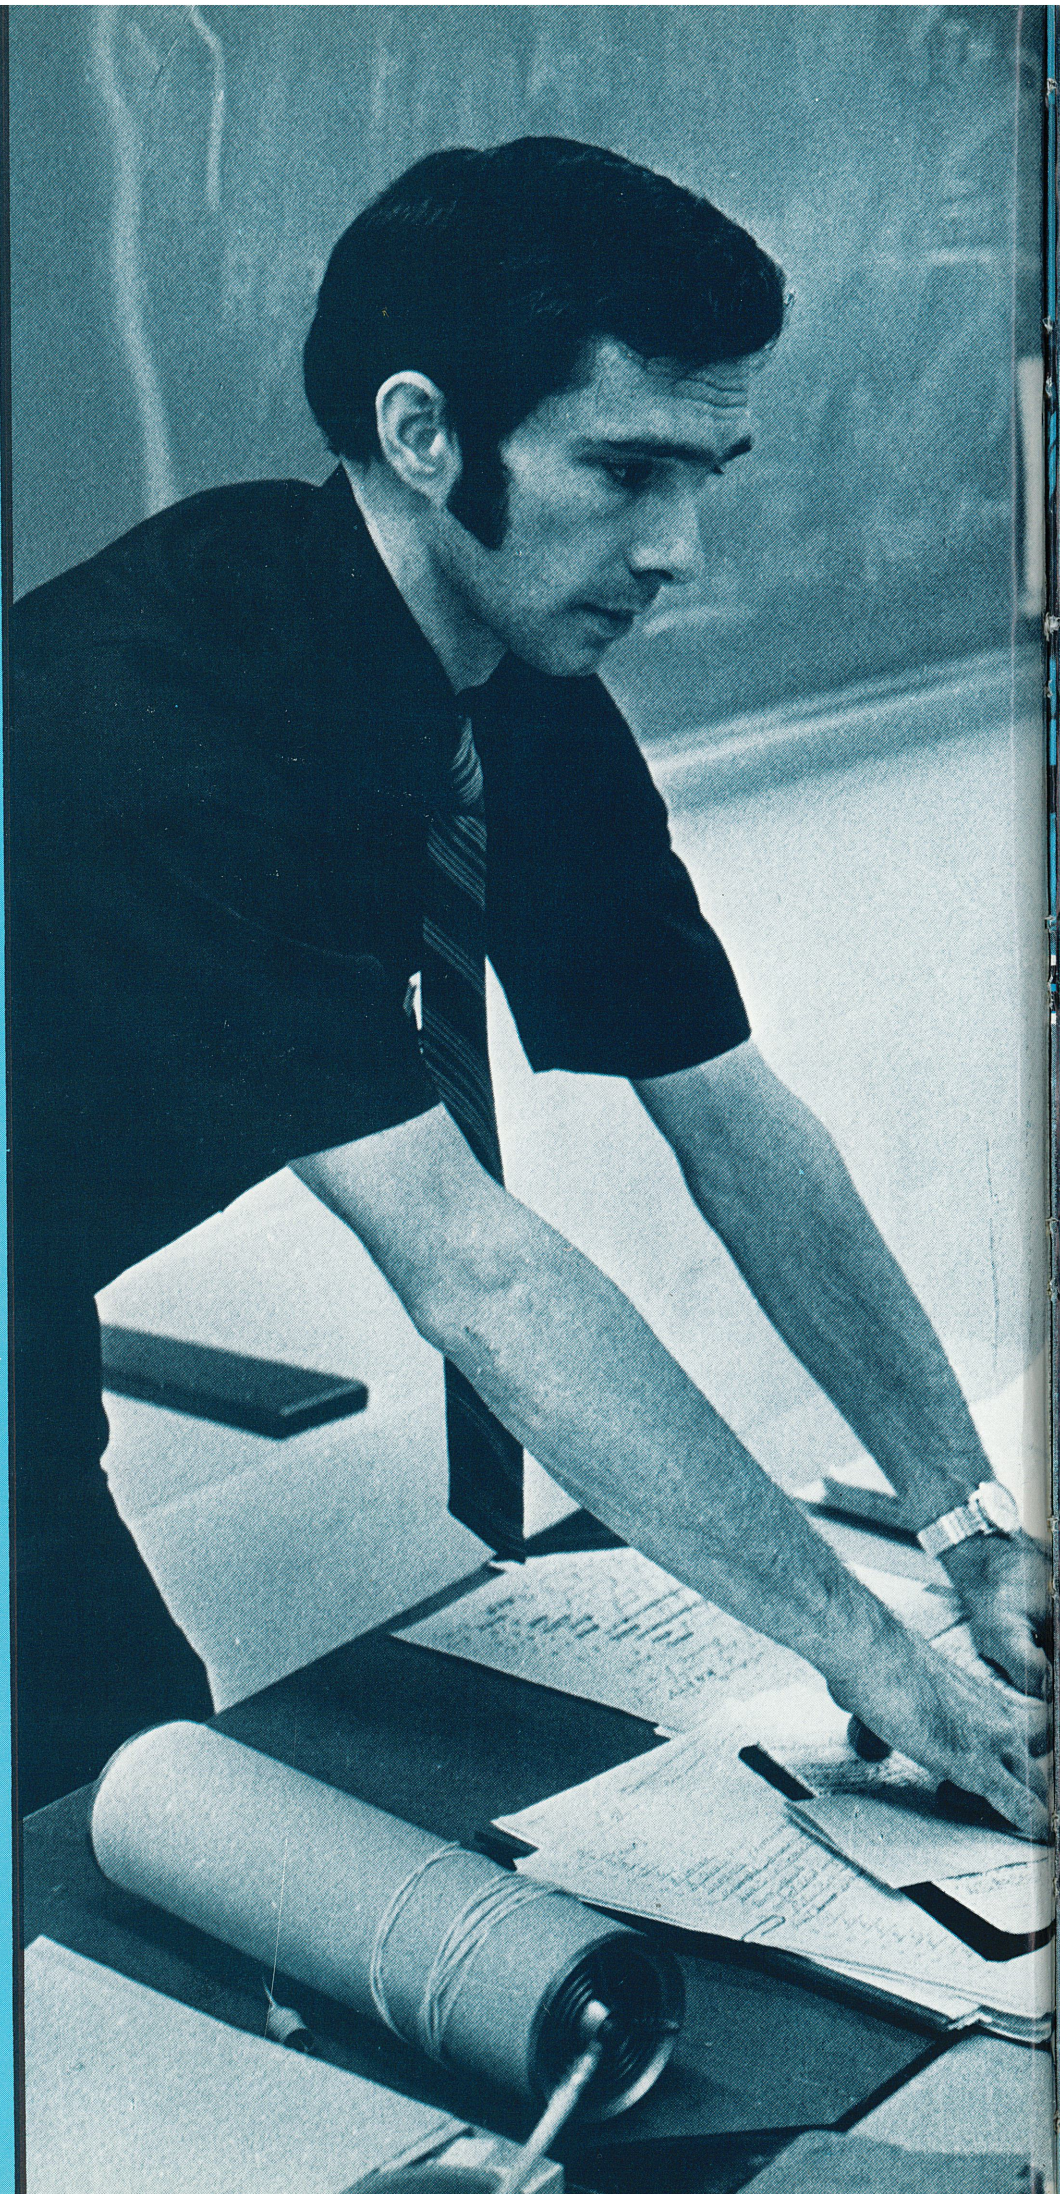

Regina Quarato

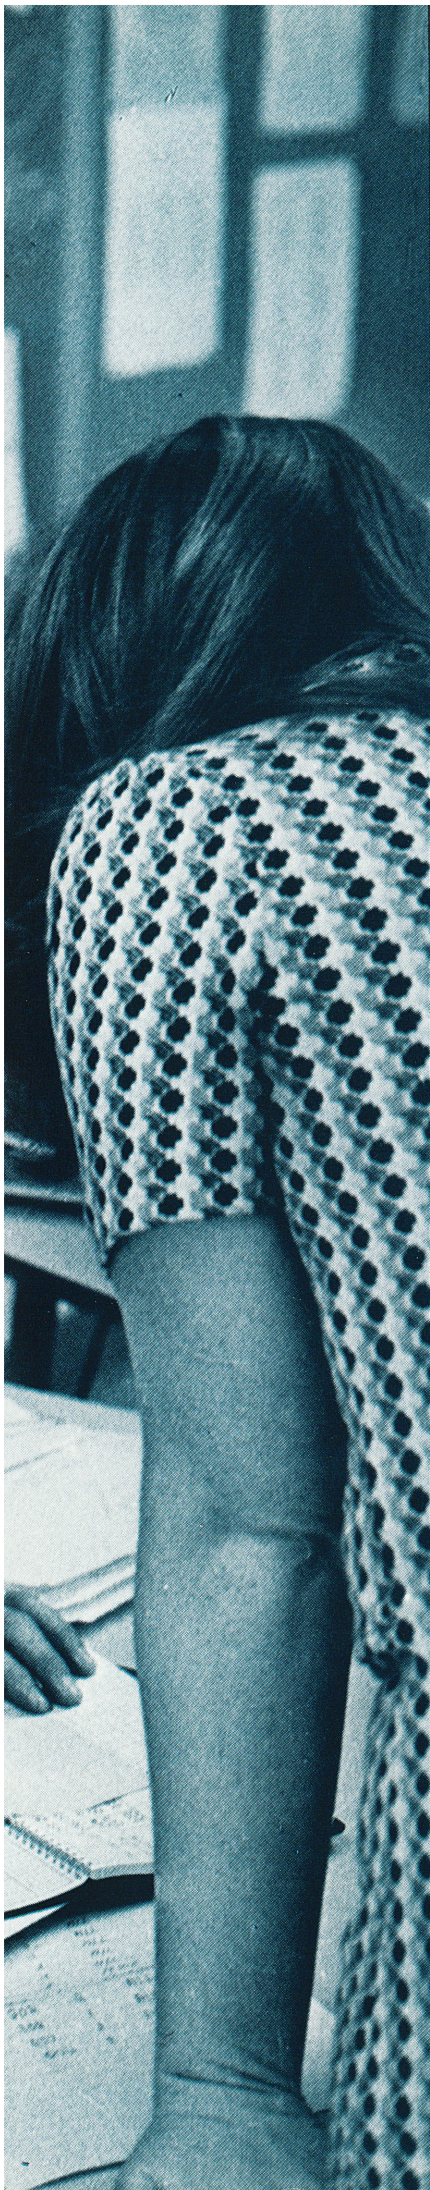

It's a leak in the new olympic-sized swimming pool.
It's an increase in number as 590 Sophomores invade the Big K.
It's expansion of the mind . . . through learning through experience, through people.
What does it all mean?

Mr. Schreffler gives one of his students a sneak preview of her grades, the measure of success or failure within the system.

Late? Sign the blue sheet. But besides signing it, Rich Gallo must also satisfy Mrs. Brownski's curiosity by stating the reason why.

SYSTEM . . .

It's the "They" that governs our lives. It receives more criticism than praise. It's an obstacle as well as a necessity.

"They" say activity period is last again. "They" say we might get out early tomorrow. "They" will give or take — depending on some unknown factor.

We say "Blue Jeans" and "Long Hair". They say, "Dress blue denims" and "To the ear lobe". We say, "But there was a traffic jam in the Junior Hall." They say, "Just sign the blue sheet."

"The System is something we all try to get around."

Kathy Steele

What does it all mean? It's doing monotonous homework assignments. It's moving when commanded by cruel, inhuman bells. It's carrying a "tiny white slip" to the boys' room.

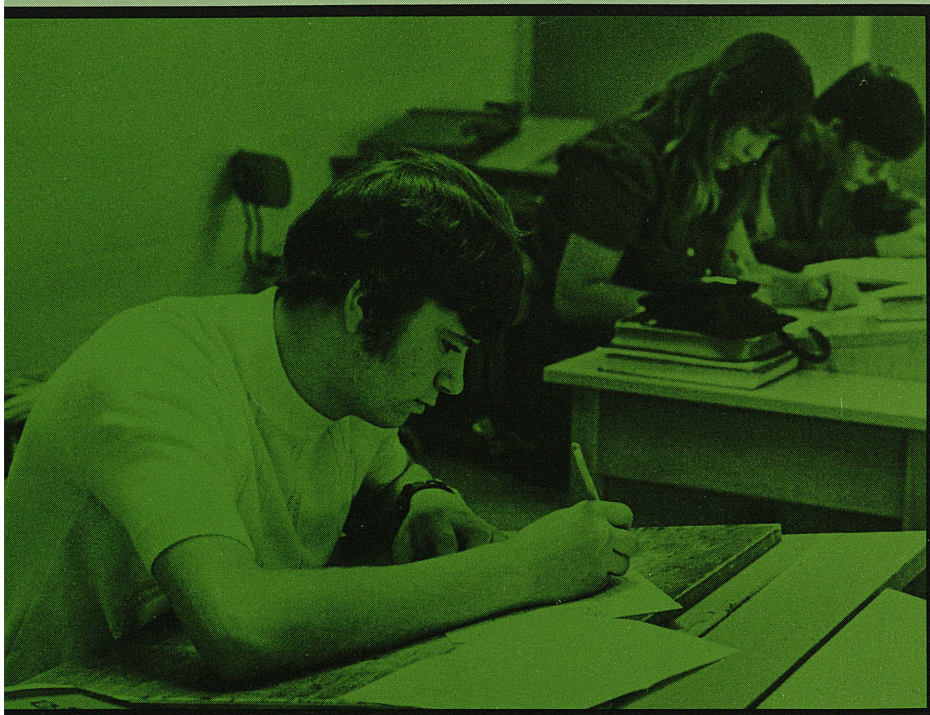

The System —

We condemn it, we ignore it, we try to change it. But we cannot exist without it.

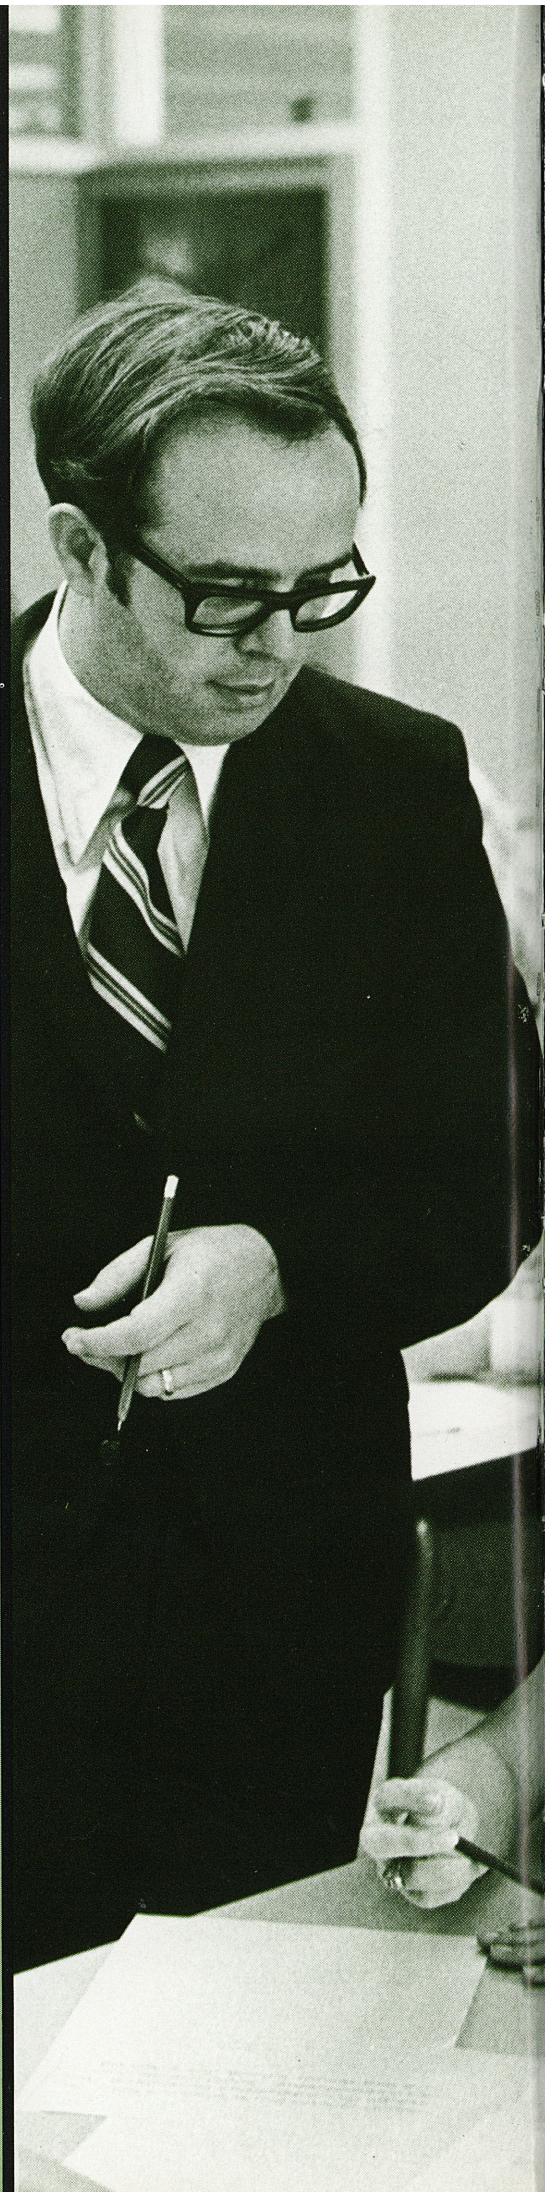

At 8:10, John Summerville "hands over" his car keys which, according to school policy, must be kept in the custody of the Big K office.

Before the educational process begins for the day, Larry Long hurries to complete homework during activity period.

ABOVE: Showing that education is not all memorizations, but also involves some manual skills, Miss DelVecchio demonstrates the basics of knitting to Marianne Mendicino.

RIGHT: Learning the basics of paragraph construction, Louise Pecus receives aid from Mr. Iagnemma in Expo I.

Intent in his work, Richard Johnson learns the need to be accurate as he proofreads his typing manuscript.

EDUCATION . . .

Learning — and applying what you've learned.
Memorizing — and forgetting everything after the test.
It's defined as "gaining knowledge through instruction", but we've learned that it's more . . .

It's battling with a "clanging box" at 6:30 each morning and skipping breakfast in order to finish some homework. It's learning never to rely on the Blue Agenda sheet. It's getting accustomed to bells in some classes, "beeps" in others.

"If you think about the things you want to think about, you'll get thrown out of school!"

John Urik

It's Mr. Staney's 10-foot slide rule, making movies about lunch bags, learning the Bible, and mastering the latest Italian "swear words".
It's discovering that a 500-word composition can be written during one lunch period. And it's manipulating your way from the gym to the Senior building in four short minutes.

Education . . .

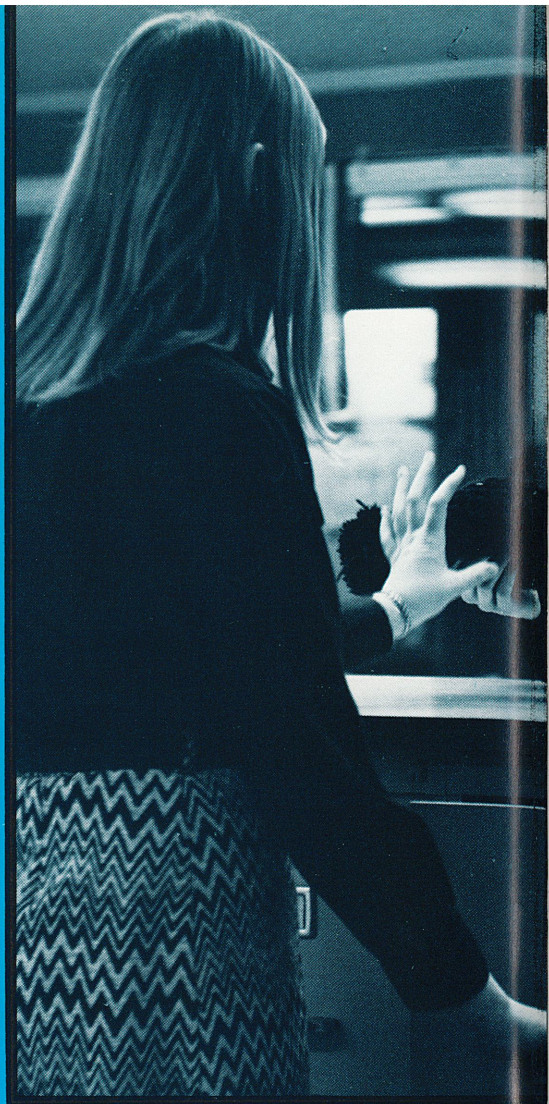

It's more than a mechanical process — It's the reason we're here, but what does it really mean?

Right: Whether the motive is honesty or dislike, Dorothy Hill turns in a lost hat to Vicki Coleman for the lost and found department.

Above: Forging a cafeteria pass on the appropriate color card is a dishonest but frequent habit of those who like to eat in the same cafeteria every week.

Right: Personal pride goes into reaching that mark on the ropes, but if it isn't done honestly — it's an extra couple of laps in the tunnel.

Right: When copping out on a difficult test with a crib sheet, nothing is profitted — except maybe a better grade.

HONESTY . . .

It's copping out, knowing it's wrong, but doing it anyway . . . It's stamping ten passes with "B. Gibson" to slip out of Home Room and Study Halls for a week. It's finding out the "scoop" on the big History test during lunch, or sneaking a look at the typewriter keys . . .

It's the first 10 Chemistry answers written on a sweaty palm . . .

"There is no such thing as evil
There is only a lack of goodness."

Mr. Staney

It's the Guilty Feeling . . . Getting a buck on the second day of deer season and marking "sick" on the excuse . . .

It's the twitching of Mrs. Kearney's eyebrows as she recognizes an essay written by a student in another class, or the embarrassment of feeling Mr. Hartley's eyes after a quick smoke in the boys' room . . .

Getting caught . . . It's DT for a gruesome five days . . . and an "F" in deportment . . . What does it all mean?

GOALS . . .

The end toward which all effort is directed.
It's practicing every night to perfect your punting to kick a field goal in the Penn Hills game.
It's giving up "hot, nourishing lunches" for two weeks to save extra money for Christmas.
It's learning for self-improvement rather than for a grade.

"I think dreams are for people who don't want to succeed, goals are for those who do.
As long as dreams remain dreams they can never be accomplished, but as soon as they become goals they will be."

Eileen Tarosky

It's baking cookies in order to bolster Sophomore Class funds.
It's sticking to moral standards and not backing down in a confrontation.
It's working hard enough to succeed or just putting in time till it's over.
What does it all mean?

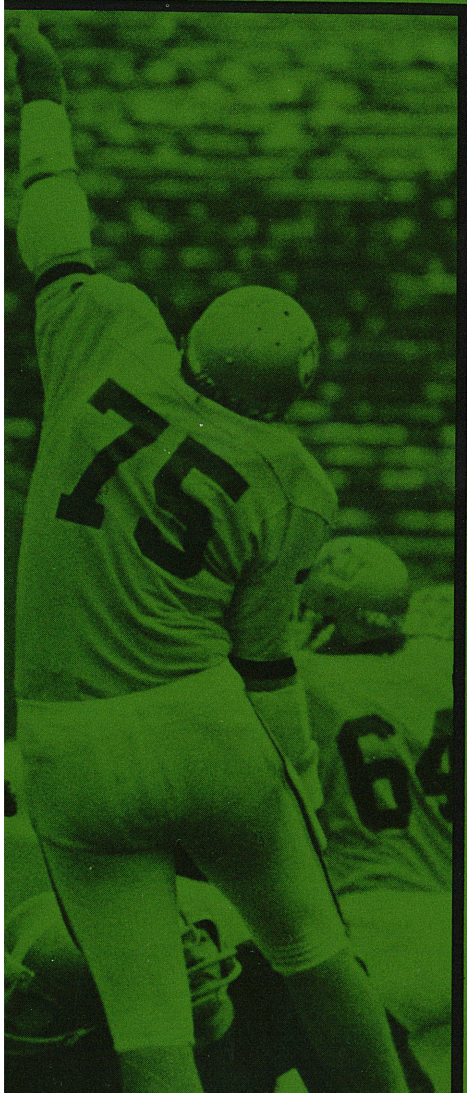

Aided by Debbie Stevenson, Martha Majercak strives for a dual goal, fifty sit-ups and a President's fitness Award.

Senior Dave Schaeffer completes an assignment, hoping for his goal, an A in English.

Goals must be obtained by surmounting obstacles, as exemplified by the "Joe-Stone-field-goal" which cleared the hands of his desperate, leaping foes.

New Course Added to OE Program

Through the leadership of Mr. Posati, who works under County supervision, our Occupational Educational Program flourished. It's purpose was to develop occupational skills so that its students could survive in today's complex society.

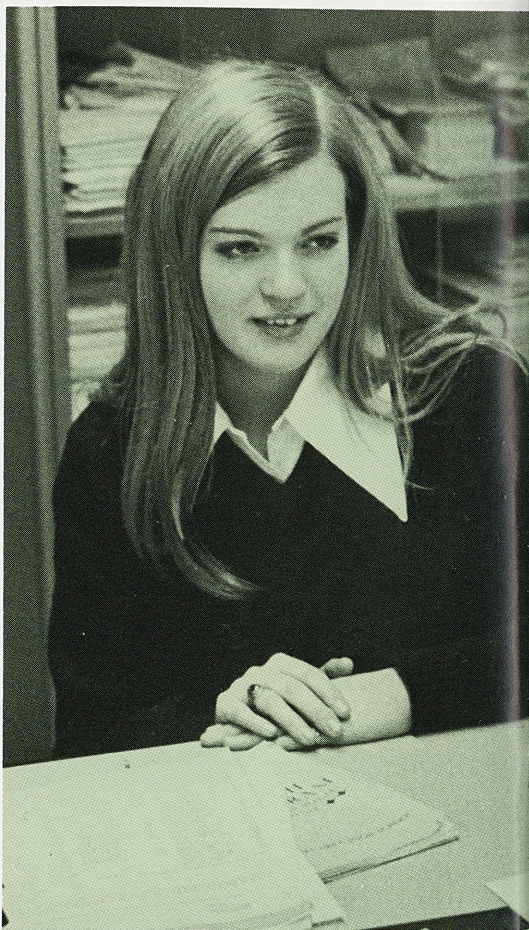

"They've already got a bank account big enough to choke a horse and we don't have anything."

Anthony Angiulli

All 27 seniors were placed in jobs or training programs that will continue after graduation. With the help of federal funds, a business program was added to the curriculum, to teach basic skills.

Above: Elsie Shearer and Sandy Evans learn typing skills as part of their occupational education curriculum.

Counselors Administer State Survey

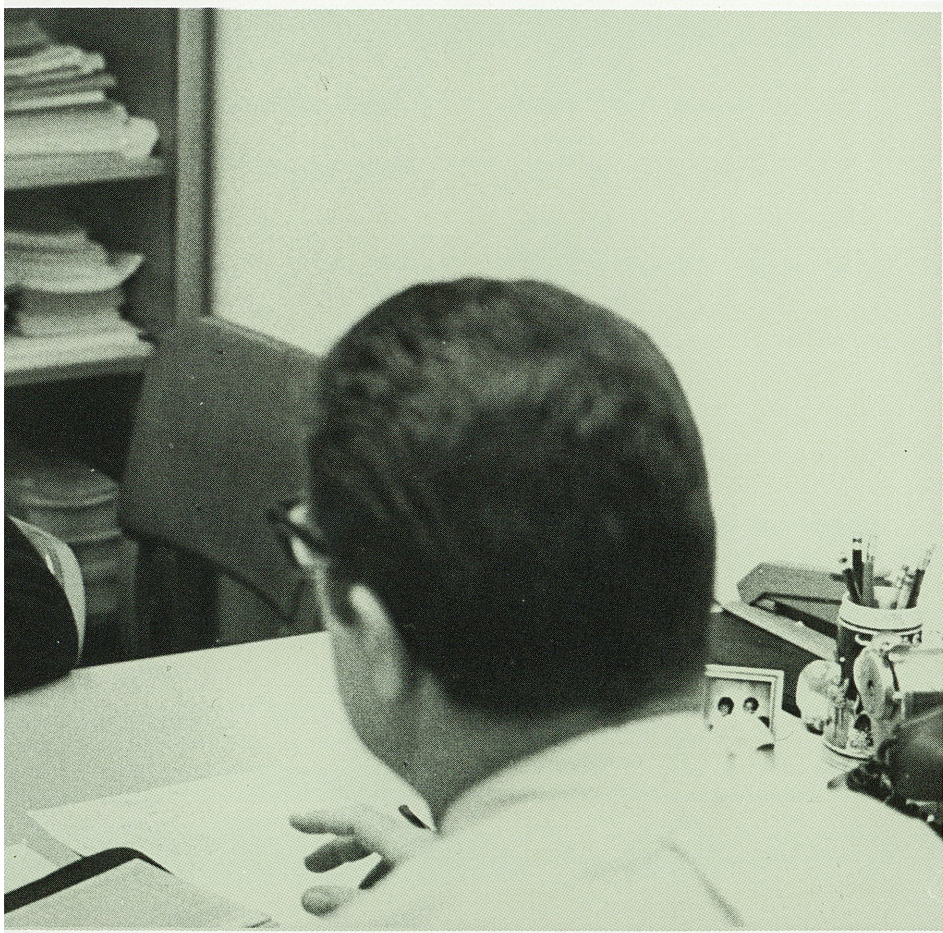

Mr. McDermott, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Mintus supplied three pairs of valuable eyes under which 1600 baffled students were guided through a hectic year. During the first weeks of school, long lines of students formed outside the guidance office. After solving the usual complaints, the department set aside three weeks to settle complications resulting from the Elective English program. Later in the year, the staff supervised the administration of the grueling SAT's, the Achievement Tests, and the new combination PSAT/NMSQT test.

"All you need tomorrow is your body, a rested brain, and a number two pencil."

Mrs. Smith

In conjunction with the Pennsylvania Department of Education, the counselors supervised the completion of the Educational Quality Assessment by all Juniors. Counseling, comforting, and commending students, Kiski's Guidance Department kept its corner of the Administration building alive.

Above: Debbie Koyste, Senior Business Clerical student, consults Mr. Mintus about her financial obligations at a local college.

Lost in the strange world of Math Analysis, Clyde Schultheis questions Mr. Woitas and gains insight into solving a problem.

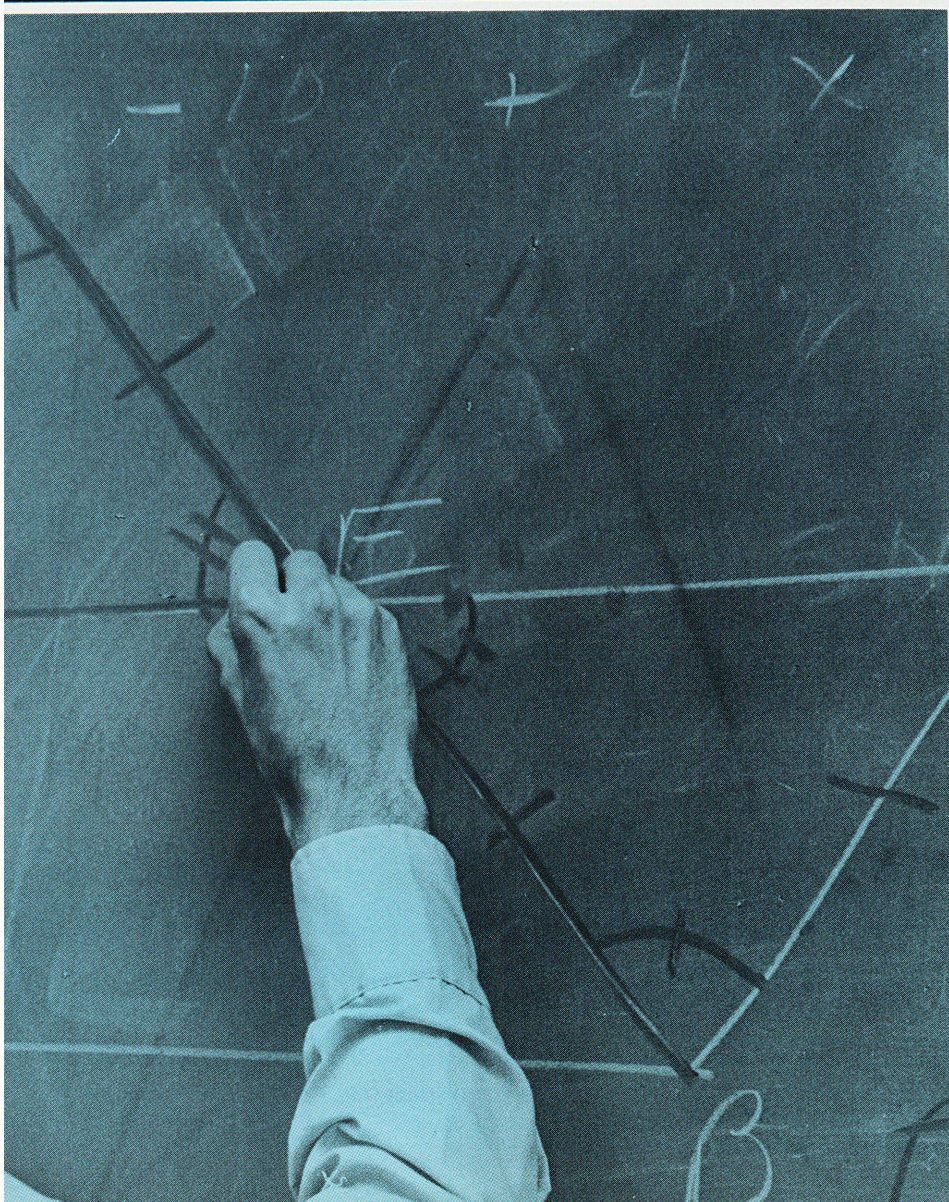

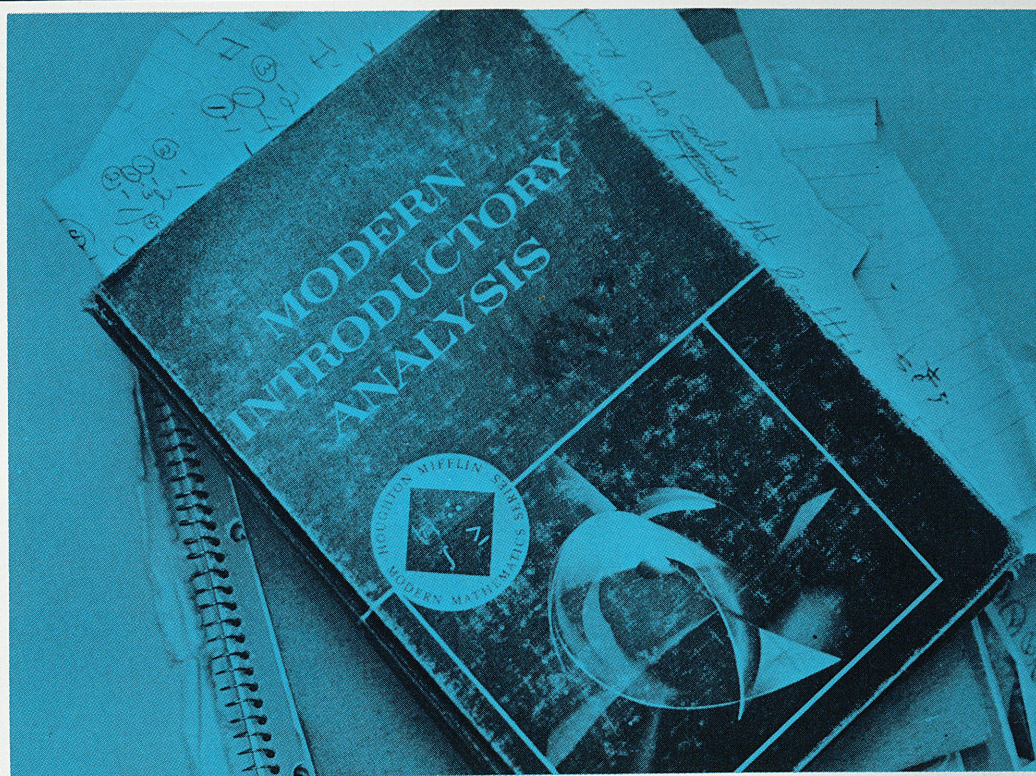

Discovering a new phase of Mathematics — Algebra, — baffled students solve for x's and y's.

Trying to decide on the ASA or the SAS theorem, Barry Markitell solves a common geometry problem — proving the congruency of two triangles.

Although the answers are given in the back of the books, this conglomeration of thought processes proves that Math Analysis is more than just looking them up.

Mystified Minds Master Math

The core of Kiski's Math Department lies in the perplexed but curious minds of students.

With Miss Gregory's sabbatical leave the first semester, Mrs. Grossheim tackled the chores of acting department chairman. Mrs. Rupert, a first semester substitute, and Mr. Toland, a new face at Kiski, completed the seven member math staff.

Miss Dierker began tutoring during lunch periods to assist Algebra students. Even sophomores contributed to the Math scene. They were given the prerogative of choosing either Algebra II, a new course for sophomores, or the formally mandatory geometry.

"What I hate is wasting all my time trying to prove a theorem and then find out it can't be proven."

Teresa Gallo

Department Functions Well Without Chairman

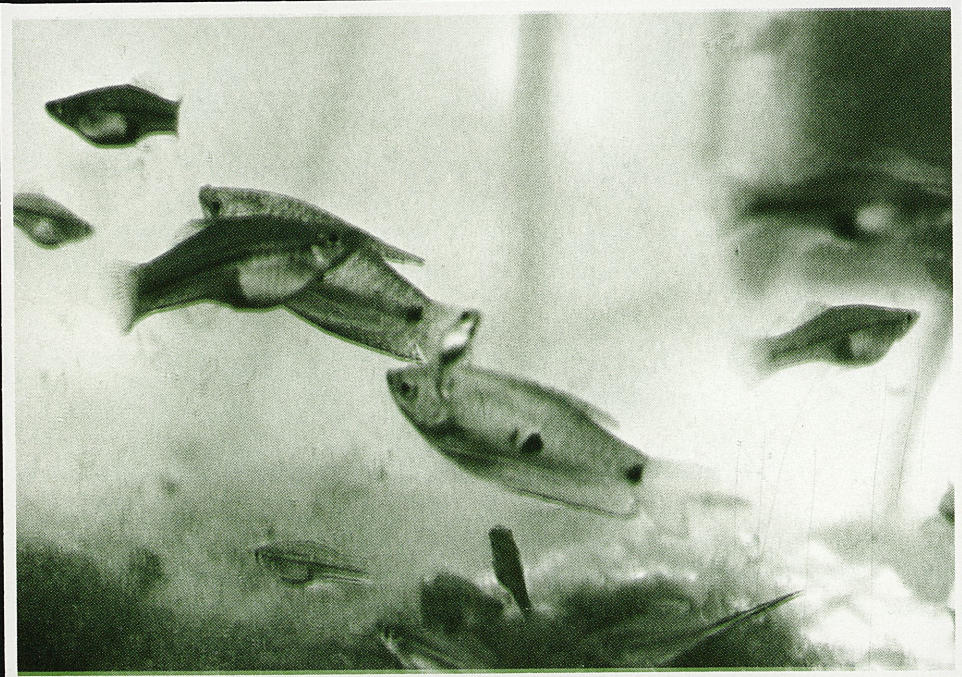

The Science department, although working without the benefit of a department head, still managed to offer various courses to Kiski Area students ranging from Astronomy to Physics. It tried to combine "text-book teaching" with discussion and student participation.

"You need lots of imagination in this class.
Just scads of it."

Mr. Eckman

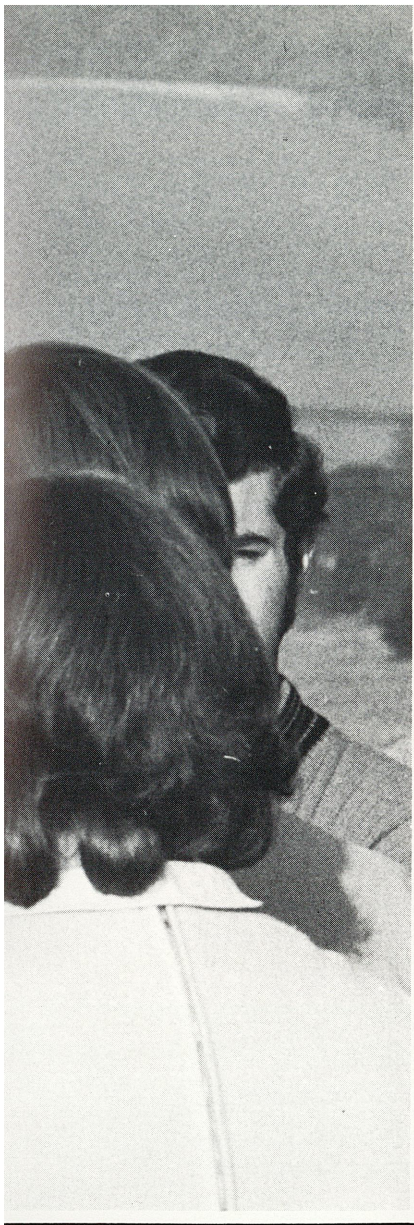

Additional films and student contributions have enriched the courses. More up-to-date microscopes were purchased for the biology labs and the annual replenishment of chemicals took place.

Kiski's Science curriculum, like science itself, constantly changes to include all facets of the ever-changing field.

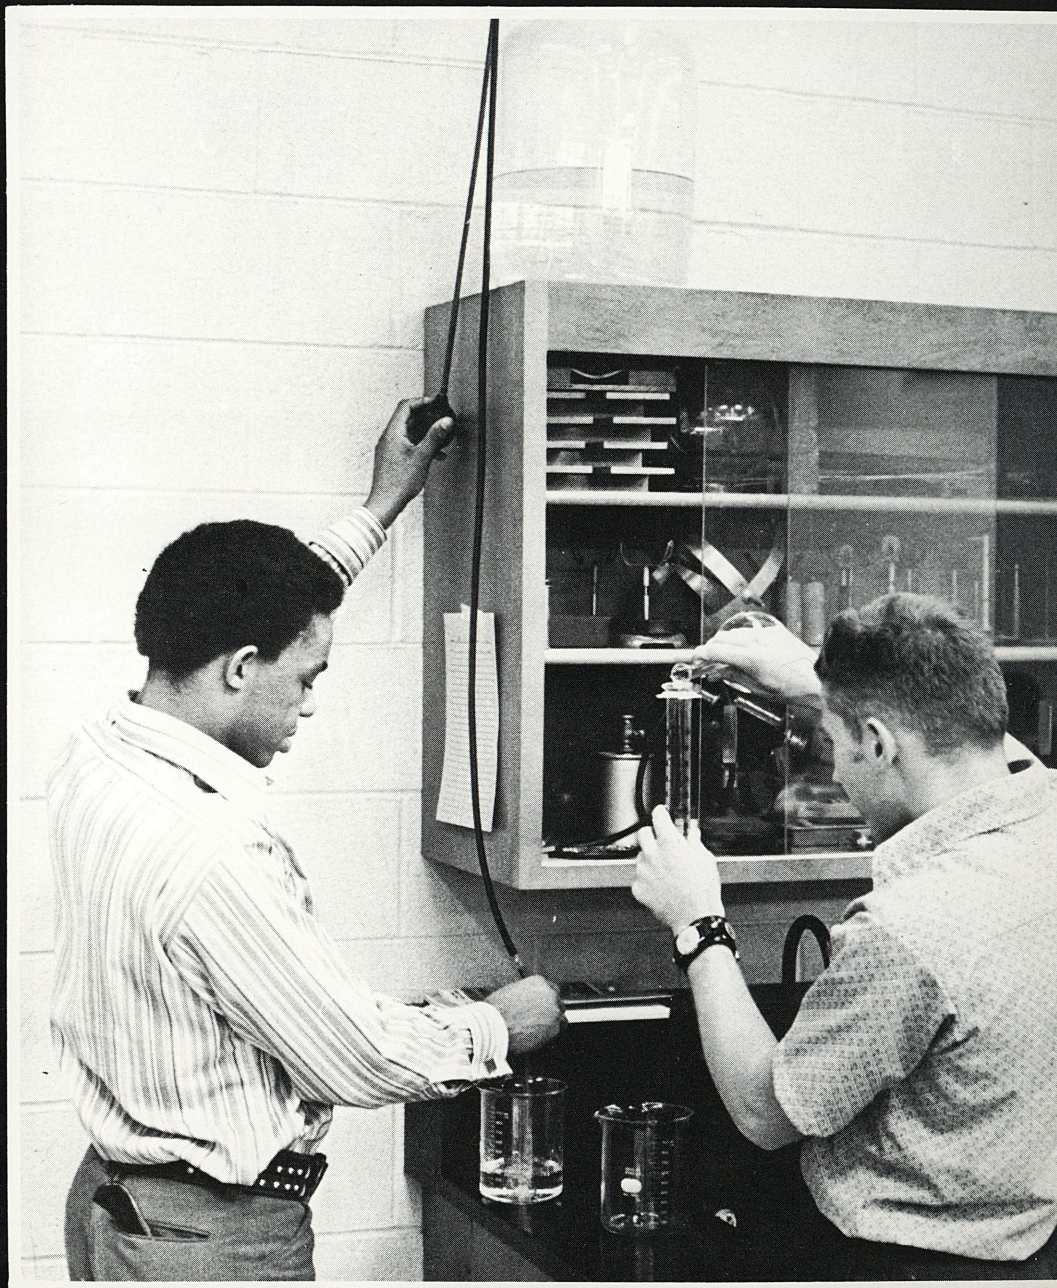

Blue Gourami and Green Swords ignore class observations on relationships of aquatic environments.

Mr. Yajko's Astronomy class receives instruction on the proper methods of viewing the sun with a telescope and a "paper" screen.

Tom King and Harvey Fishel measure distilled water from the tank for use in an Advanced Chemistry experiment regarding the concentration of solutions.

Working as lab partners, Rich Losasso and John Grazioso study yeast cultures in Mr. Coffman's biology class.

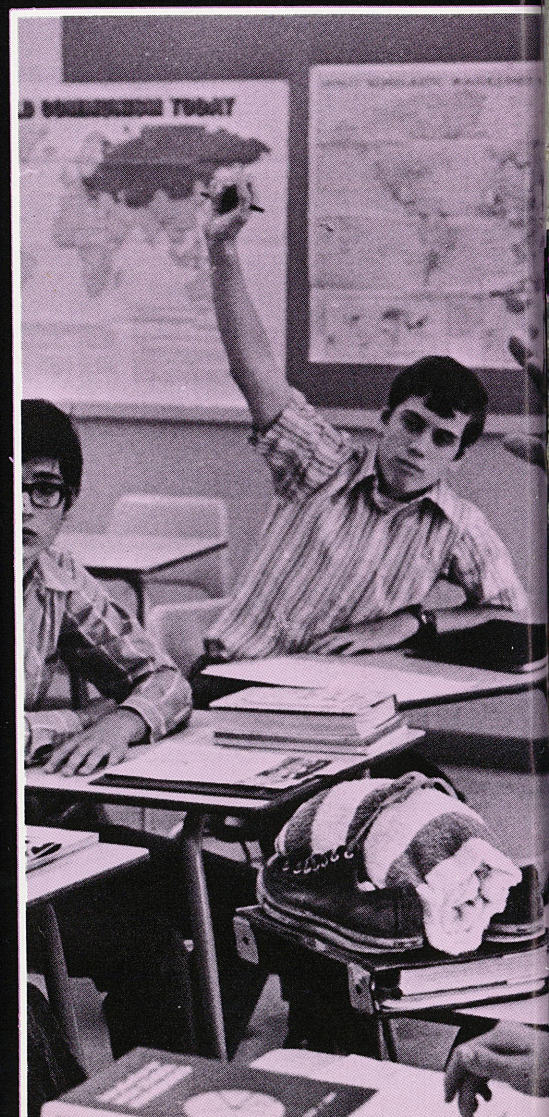

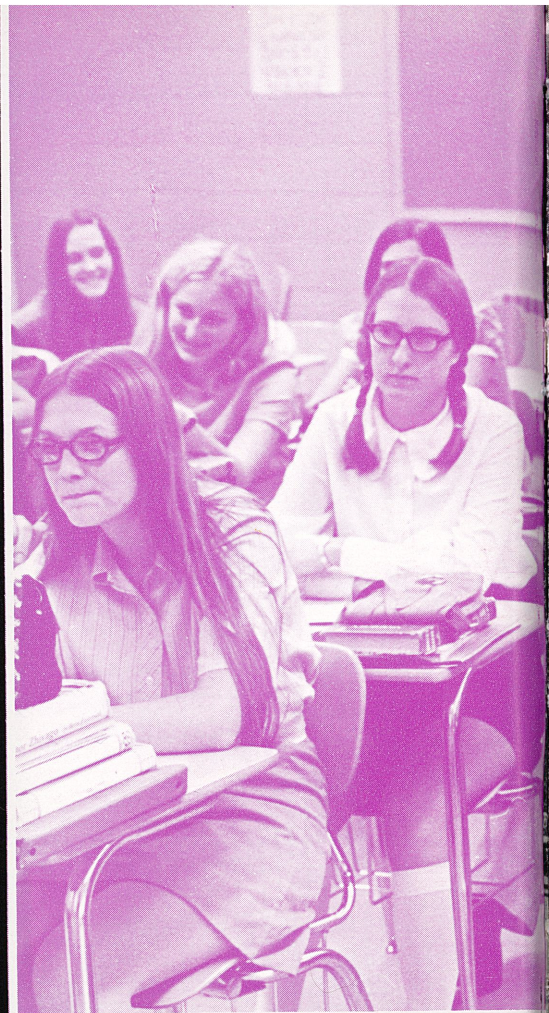

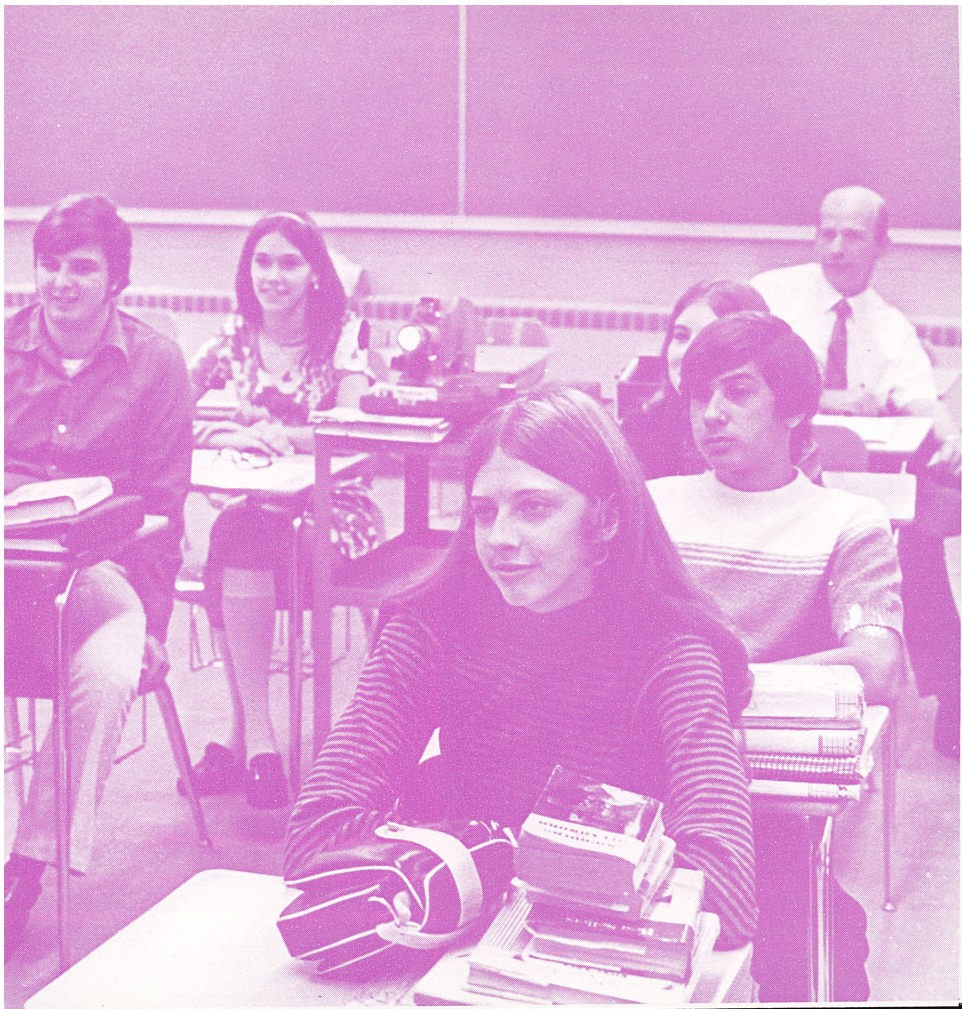

In Mr. Duckworth's World Cultures' seminar class, a filmstrip is utilized to aid in the study of communism.

Ralph Corcetti heads the debate on abortion laws in Mr. Meighan's P. O. D. class while Rosalyn Marencik and Vicki Lloyd await any questions that may arise.

Students in a U. S. History class participate enthusiastically in a group discussion as Mr. Morea attentively looks on.

Commissioner Speaks at Big K

This year the Social Studies department turned its face to the future. They encouraged interest in elections for future voters by sponsoring a one-week crash course regarding local and county government officials and by demonstrating the use of the voting machine.

"Where you are, I have been.
Where I am, you will be."

Mr. Nicholas

They investigated the possibilities of initiating an elective Social Studies program for the coming years but as yet no definite plans have been made.

Mr. Intrieri, who replaced Mr. Bassetti as the new World Geography teacher, provided the department with a welcome facelift.

Although the emphasis was on future plans, the traditional was not denied. The annual Veteran's Day assembly was presented with James Kelly, Westmoreland County Commissioner, featured as speaker.

By facing the future in respect to the past, Kiski's Social Studies Department strived to make today's students tomorrow's citizens.

A senior psychology student tests her IQ by taking an intelligence test provided by Mr. Nicholas for his classes.

Spanish Students Captivated by José Molina

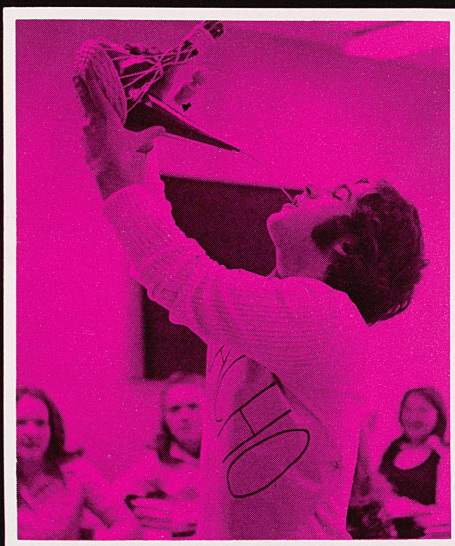

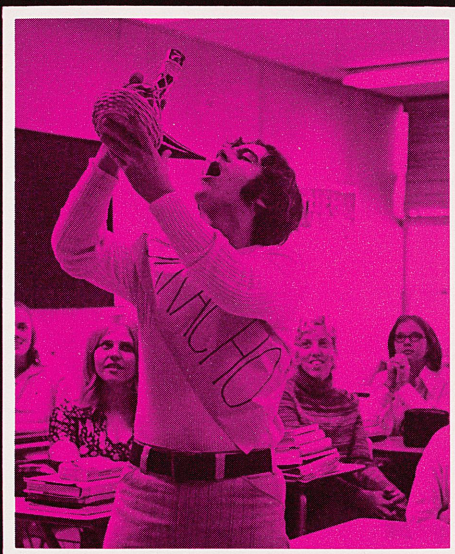

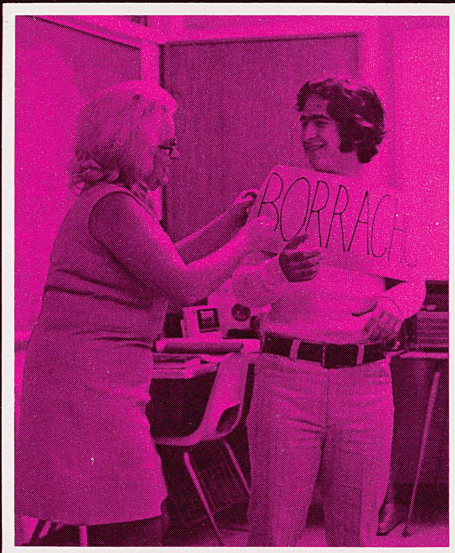

Whether you enjoy taking a Spanish class in study hall, or swearing at your adversaries in German, the Foreign Language Department offers students an opportunity to study not only languages, but the customs and cultures of our neighboring countries. Mrs. Pugliese and her eight staff members have a comprehensive language program, which now includes Russian, brought back by the popular band of 16 students.

Foreign languages offered students a welcome relief from traditional "sit-and-take-notes" courses.

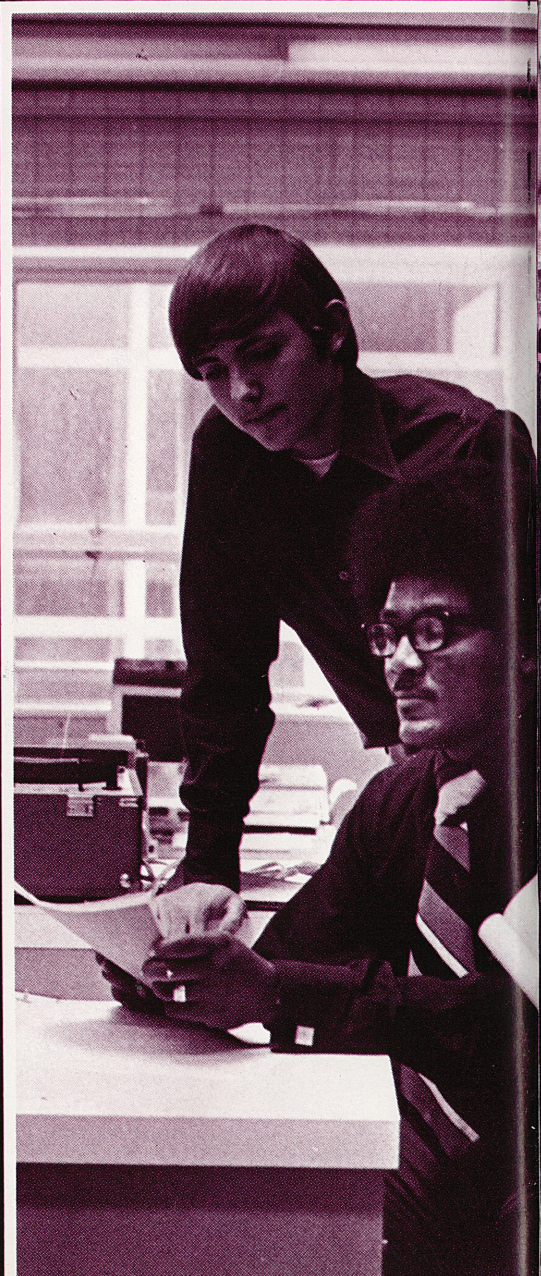

"I took language because I like the idea of being able to go to a foreign country and act like a native."

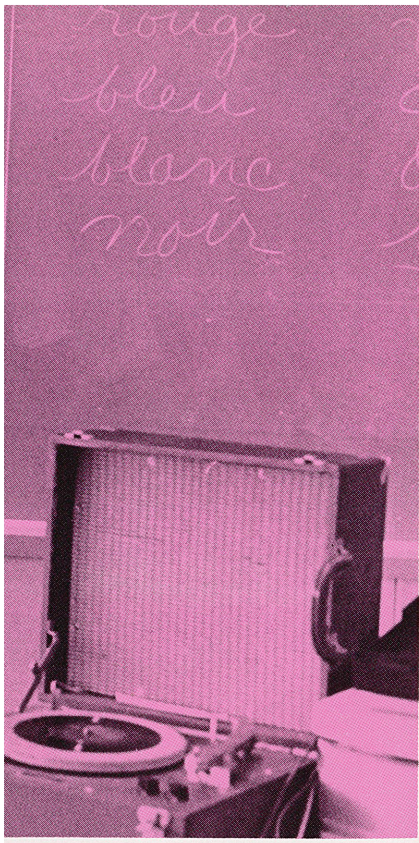

Laurie Grimes

There were numerous extra-curricular activities, including Foreign Film Festivals and on-stage performances by well-known entertainers. The highlight of the year was the trip to Carnegie Music Hall by advanced Spanish classes to see Jose Molina, Spain's greatest Flamenco dancer.

After being dubbed by Mrs. Love as a borracho, (TOP) which means drunk, masterful Joseph Piperato demonstrates the use of a wine porrón. (CENTER) He extends his arms (BOTTOM) in the traditional Spanish manner to chug the wine, alias red-colored water.

Aided by color photographs, Mrs. Roberto identifies the various French color names.

While enjoying the lively Flamenco music, second year Spanish students learn the art of cutting time.

To improve pronunciation, Linda Toy translates English phrases into the French phonetic alphabet.

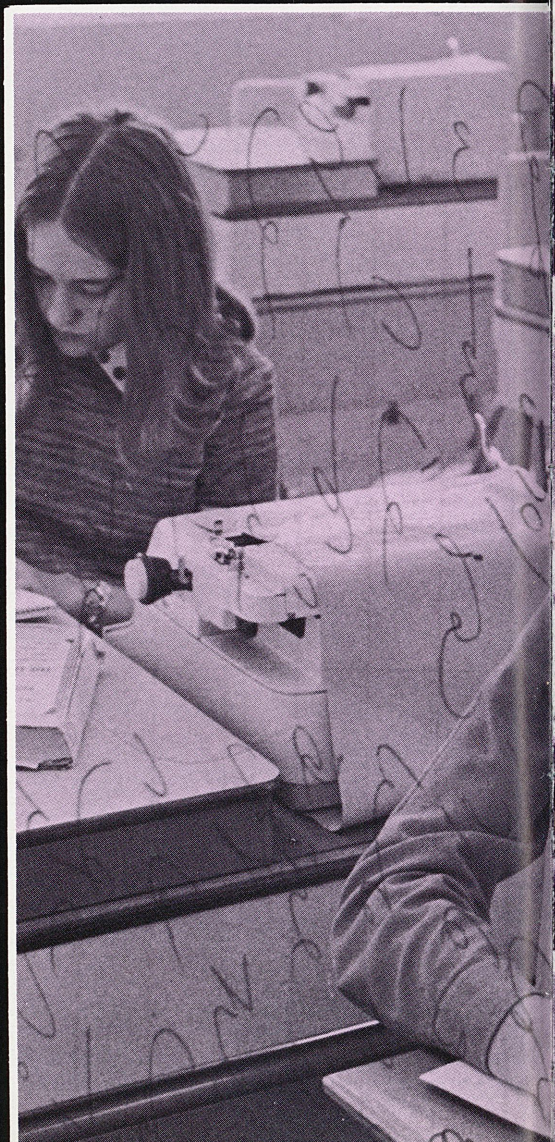

Mr. Pipkins, John Mracko and Melissa McSparrin experience difficulty while translating an American dish into German for the cafeteria menu.

Overshadowed by the complicated symbols of Shorthand II, Seniors Christine Creel and Cindy Geer diligently take a dictation.

Listening intently to the dictaphone, Debbie Cuddy tests her speed and accuracy in transcribing a letter.

Senior business students, Linda Walters and Chris Woody, acutely listen to tapes in an effort to improve their shorthand skills.

New Wing Aids Department

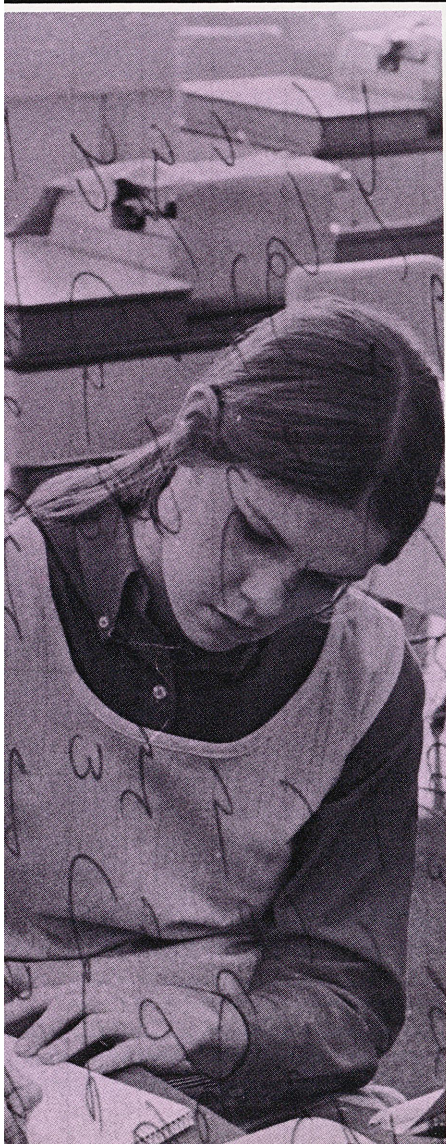

One of the most impressive areas at Kiski was the new business wing. Headed by Miss Wingert, the department was unique in that it was the only one with its own complete work section, eight rooms located entirely within the new wing.

The wall to wall carpeting and tiled rooms provided a friendlier atmosphere in which to work, deadened the noise of the typewriters, and aided the teachers in dictating.

"The most exciting thing is the new swivel chairs . . . You can run around in the room in them."

Debbie Cuddy

This year the growing Business Department played one of the most important roles in education . . . expansion.

With the aid of an overhead projector, Miss Wingert attempts to explain her writings to a group of baffled notehand students.

Elective Program Flourishes Despite Conflict

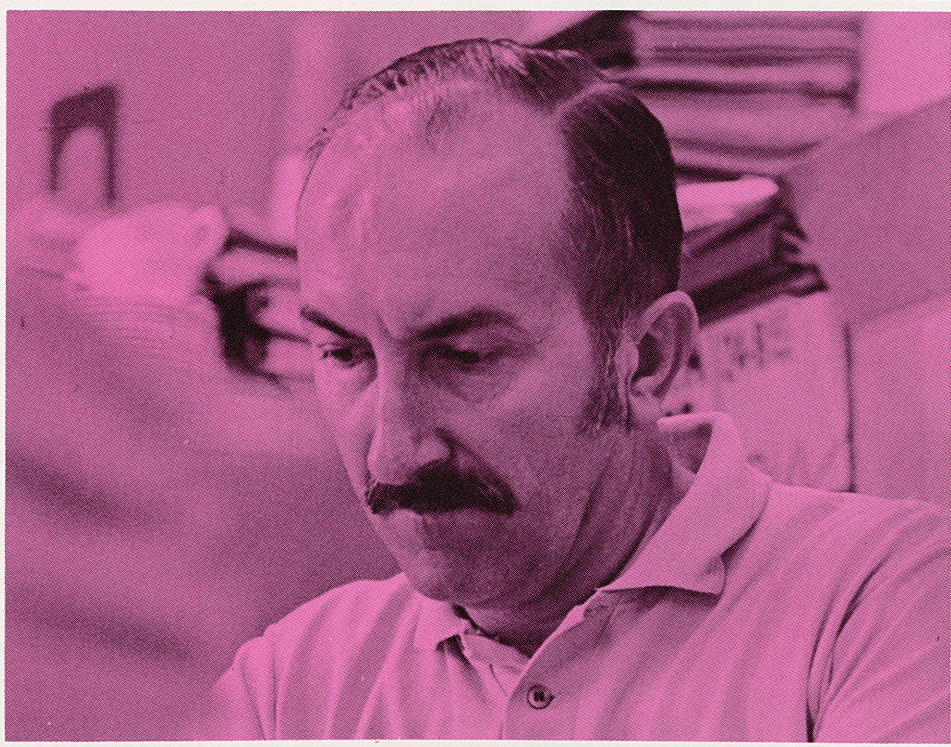

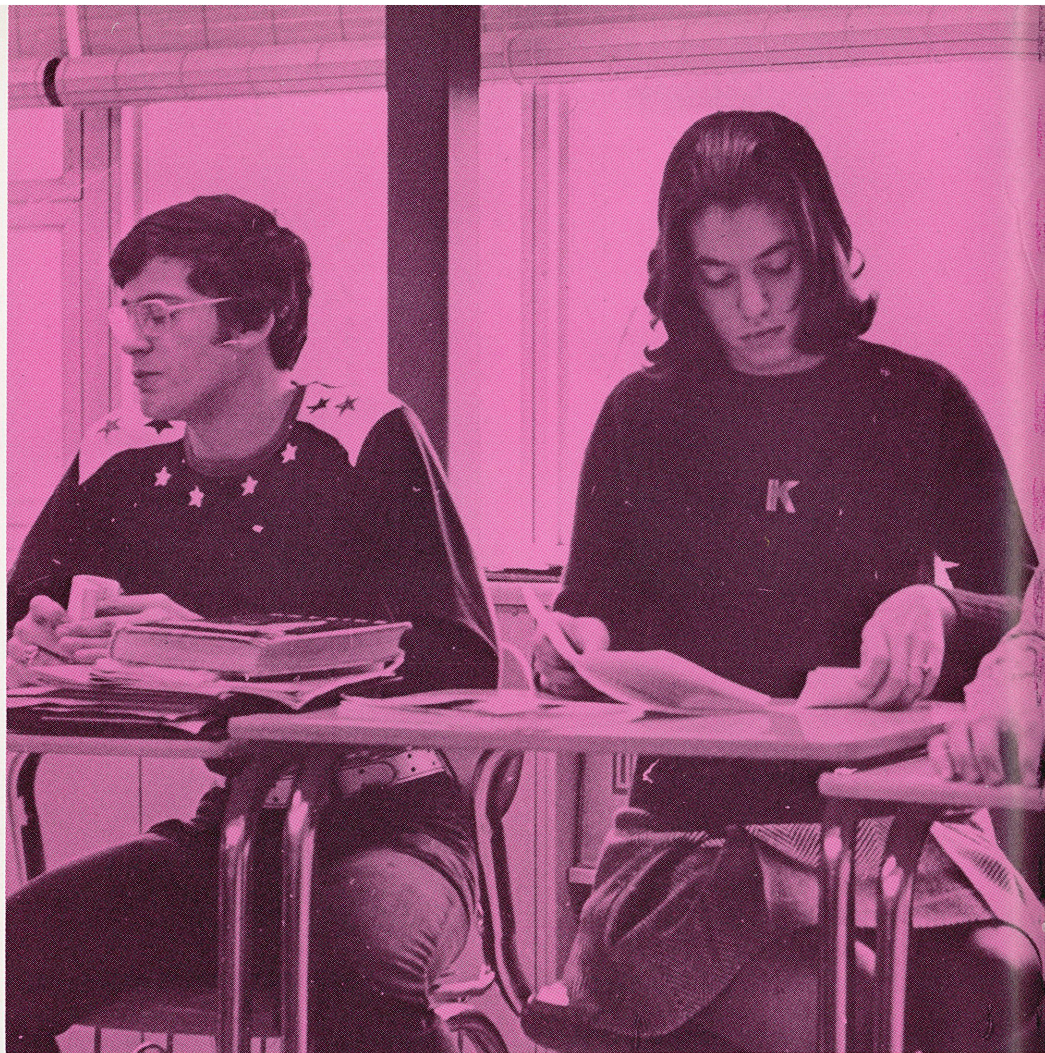

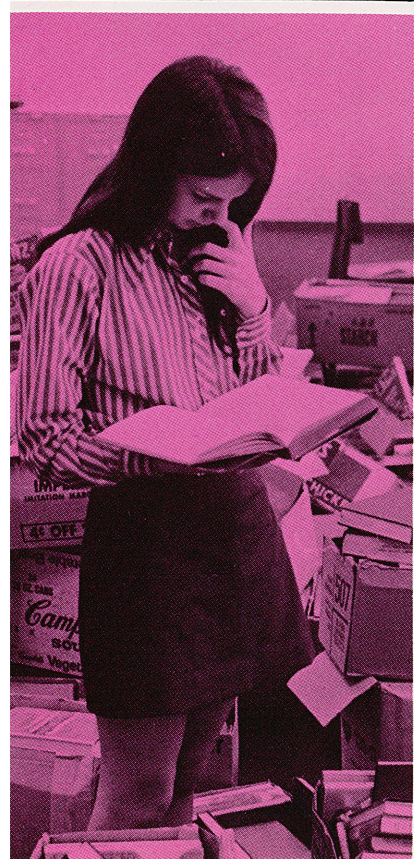

Constant change has affected every field of activity at Kiski and the English Department is no exception. This summer, Mr. Iagnemma transformed Conference Room "B" into his home away from home. Working until he had "GPI's" and yellow cards "coming out of his ears" he initiated 33 new courses into the elective program — bringing the number to 55.

"There are three great plagues in the world — yellow fever, yellow journalism, and yellow cards!"

Mr. Plischke

The most popular choice of study proved to be the course "Death" which 943 students selected. Courses such as Debate cropped up with video-taped debates and Independent study with "fruit" films featuring lots of fruit from the A&P!

Plotted two years ago, the Elective program offered students a better chance to pursue individual interests.

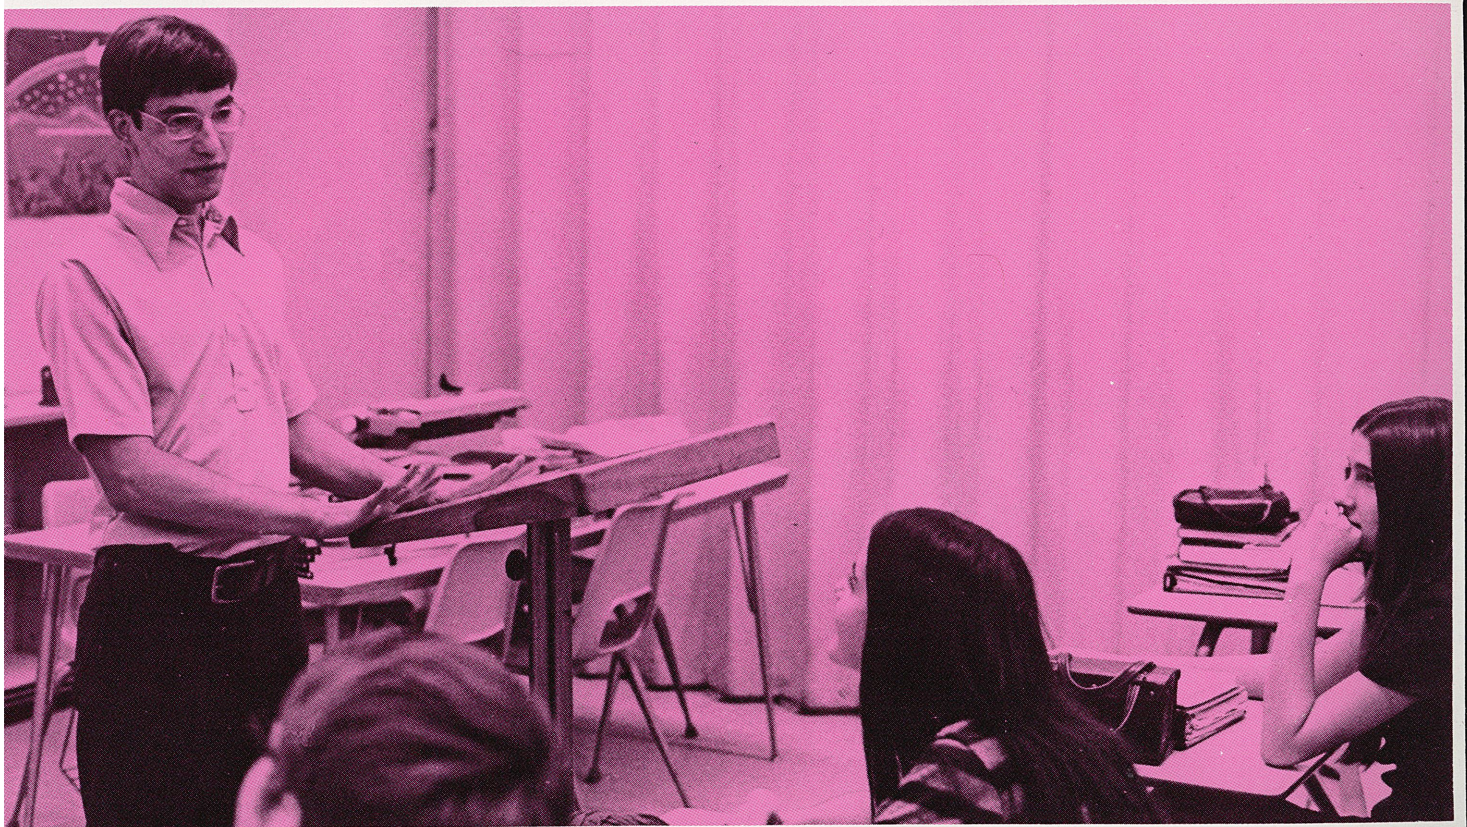

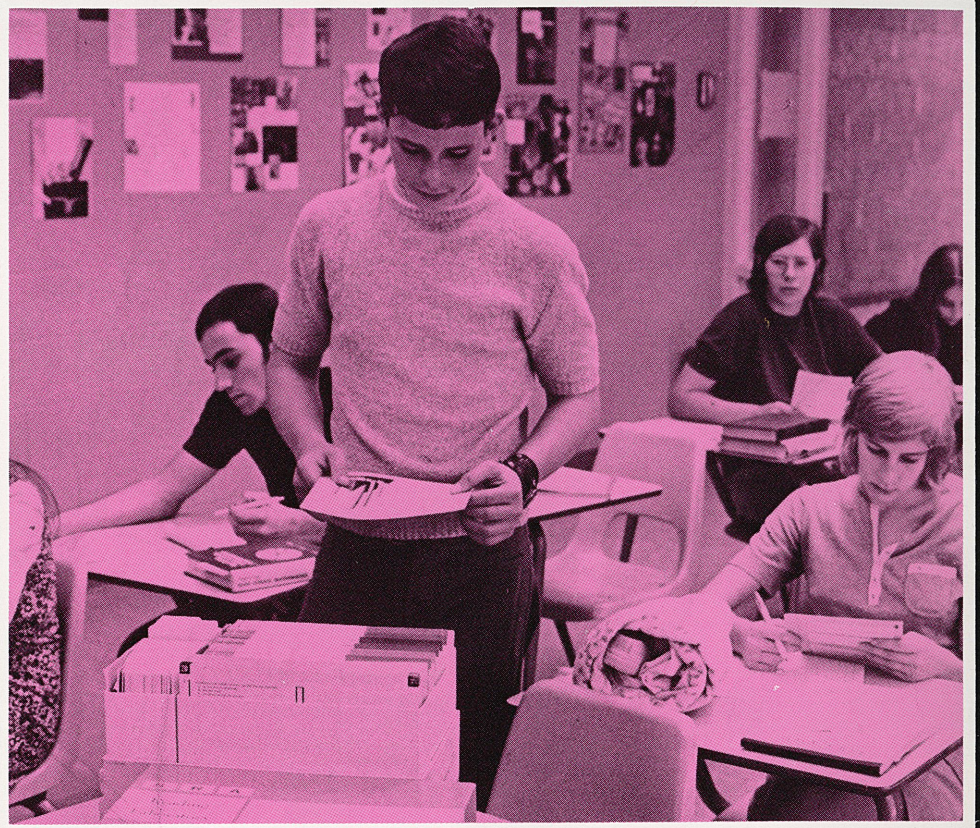

During the summer, Mr. Plischke put on a new look as he worked with his fellow teachers planning the Elective English Program.

Before the organization of the new library, Sharlene Fitzsimmons rummages through mounds of boxes searching for material to use in her Elements of Research class.

Supporting the legalization of abortion, Kim Spaniel searches for facts while Joe Lynch and Tom Policicchio listen to an opposing comment.

Using the SRA Reading Laboratory, Dan Kiebler enriches his comprehension in a Developmental Reading Class.

Miss Wichrowski's Speech class, Patsy Pisone listens with interest as Robert Kovalchik presents his "fear-reaction" speech.

Fine Arts Stimulates Individuality

The Fine Arts Department at Kiski provides an opportunity for talented students to develop their artistic abilities.

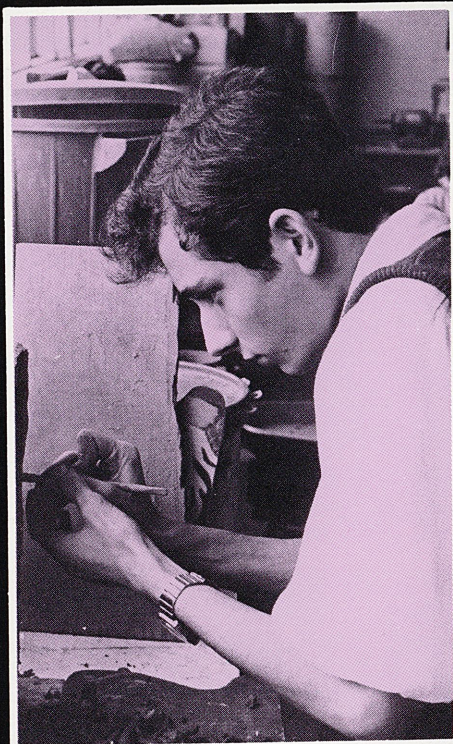

Under Mr. Wolfe's supervision, Art II students worked in a program of independent study, selecting projects from the areas of textiles, sculpture, ceramics, pottery and painting. Each of these projects was accompanied by a research paper and a personal evaluation of their work.

"We make a lot of mistakes . . .
but we're learning!"

Terri Kish

Music Theory was taught to twelve seniors, meeting three times weekly to promote understanding and appreciation. New speaker systems were installed in the chorus room for "miking" the vocalists and the dance bands. In grading, individualities are stressed, rather than competitiveness.

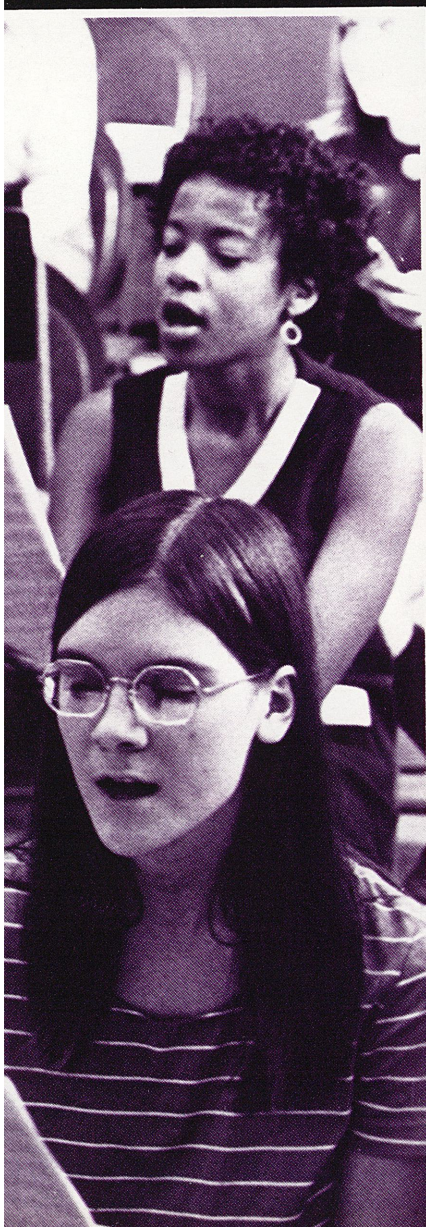

Trying a new sculpturing technique, Art Mustakas exercises his creative talents on 100 pounds of wet clay.

Below: Art students exercise techniques in pen and ink sketching, a graphic art involving suggestivity of line and shadow.

Above: An art student is "mastering" the clay, making it more malleable and removing explosive air bubbles.

Innovations Aid Practical Arts

ough the Practical Arts Department is one of Kiski's less publicized programs, its curriculum requires as much work as any other Kiski elective. Home Economics was not just sewing and cooking. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. DelVicchio, a Kiski alumna, taught nursing, nutrition, child care, family care, home furnishing, and money management.

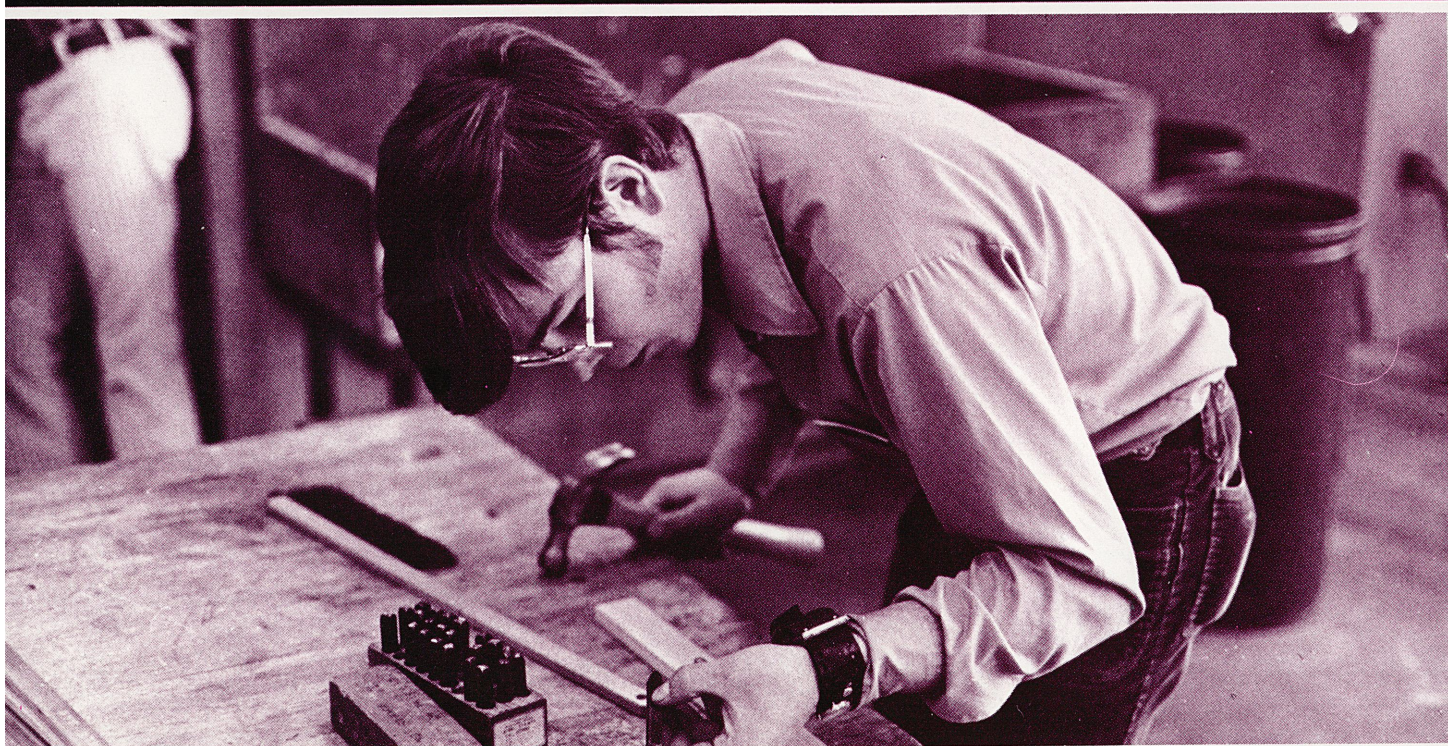

"For every inch I knit, I have to rip out ten."

Diane Detman

shop classes utilized a new centralized dust unit which was installed during the early fall.

George felt that the overcrowding in the Mechanical Drawing classes occurred because many students took the course for an "easy" credit and lacked the ambition to produce.

Practical Arts students were graded on performance, attitude, and ability to execute the skills learned.

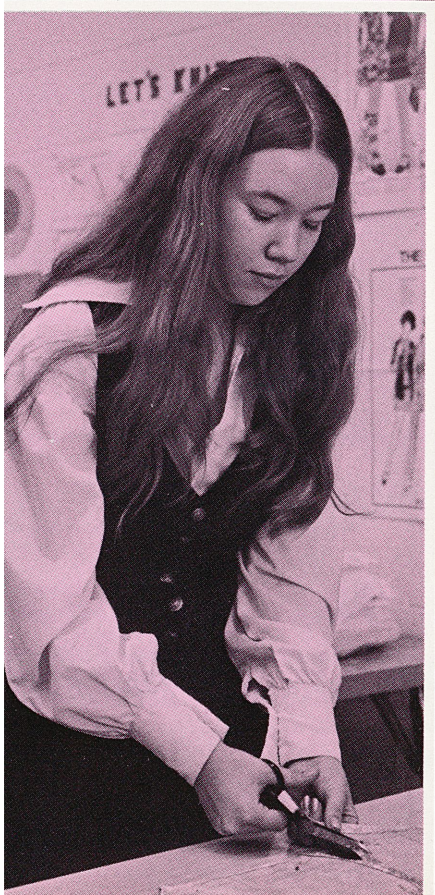

Rich Hessom meticulously stamps his name on the broom he made which will later be used to clean the lathe in woodshop.

Mastering the useful art of cooking, Diane Detman and Cheryl May observe how Linda Rearick completes her pastry shell for a tantalizing chicken pot pie.

Struggling against time, eighth period white trunkers face the siege of the ropes.

New Pool . . . New Gym . . .

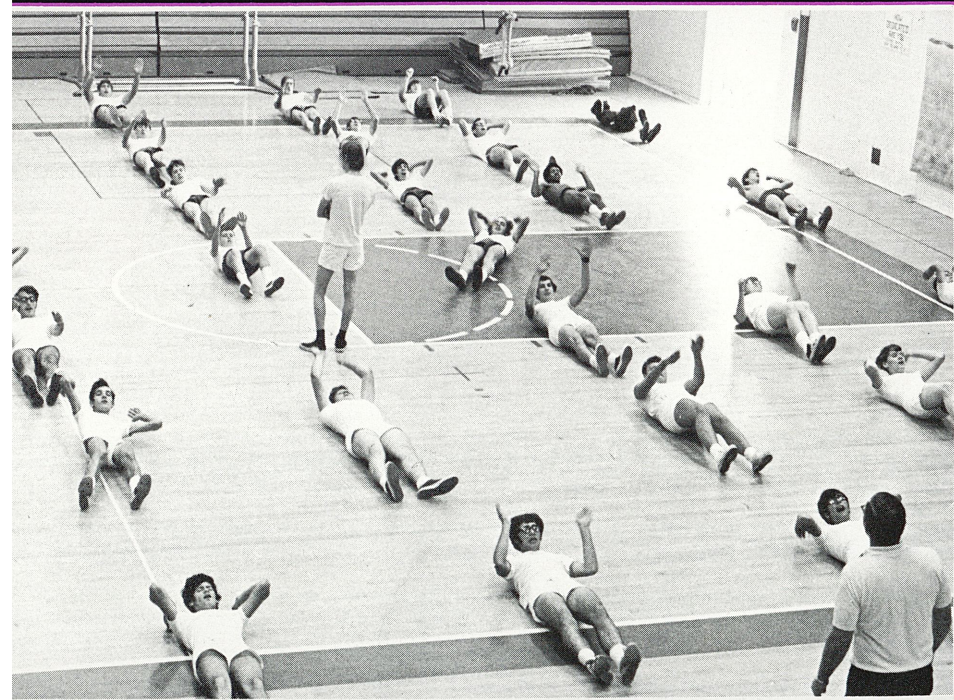

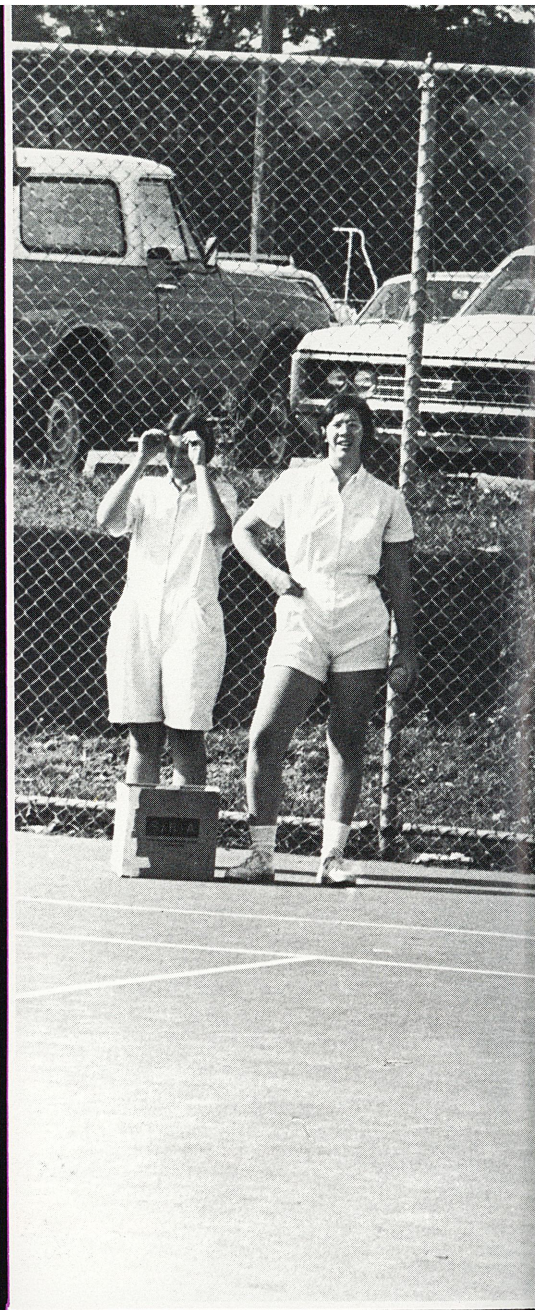

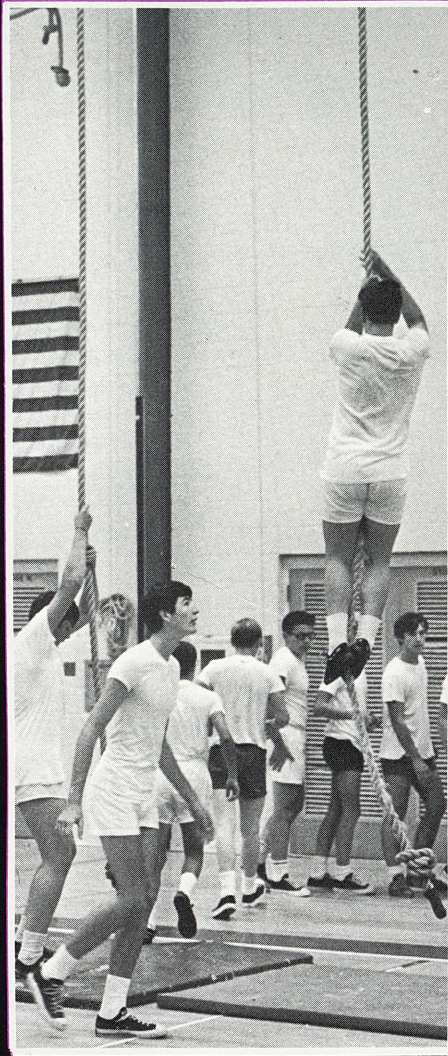

Participation is "in" as far as physical education goes. This year, Mr. Gatto and company are trying to get away from the stigma of fitness in Kiski Area gym classes. The emphasis is being placed on team sports, with soccer, wrestling, and volleyball being offered.

A new facet of physical education was introduced at the Big "K" with the addition of new locker facilities, an auxiliary gym, and an olympic style pool.

"Why don't these guys want to take gym for me?"

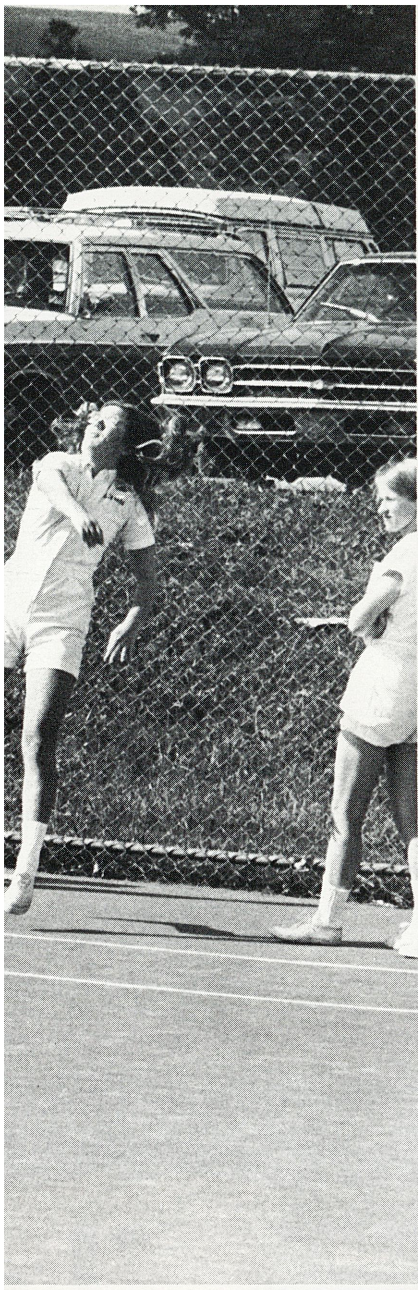

Mr. Gatto

By introducing enjoyment into the conditioning of our poor bodies the gym department, as Mr. Ruggeri put it, "Snuck in physical fitness without you guys ever knowing".

Mr. Gatto hawks the seventh period gym class to make sure all the kiddies perform their sit-ups.

Council Hosts Two Area Schools

We got off to a good start in August when our president, Mickey and secretary, Bill, participated in a four-day Workshop at Grove City.

We held a tag-day in town for muscular dystrophy and of course sold ice cream at lunch. Inflation hit us though, and we were forced to raise the price of the ice cream to 15¢ to finance two $375 scholarships.

"The kids think that Student Council is a miracle worker. We're not. We need the whole school working together to get something done."

Bill Kaplin

We even got out of classes twice when kids from Norwin and Latrobe came to get a first-hand look at our dress code. "Dress code — to drop or not to drop" was the question of the day. With Mrs. Bart as our "voice of experience", we managed to make ourselves useful.

Traditional Coffee House Continued

We, the members of the 1971-72 National Honor Society, were those (supposedly) endowed with superior capabilities, but a better definition would be that we were a conglomeration of varied types of students. There was Jolly Joe, our resident hippie, Harvey the Radical Conservative, Barb the Conservative Radical, and Casanova Mick. The necessary 3.2 grade average was perhaps our only common characteristic.

"The best thing about the new inductees is that they don't know enough to get out of doing work."

N.H.S. has often been said to be a service club, and we, here at Kiski, contributed our share of service. Under the direction of Chef Larry, who, in his apron and hat, appeared quite eligible for "Housewife of the Year," coffeeshouses were held in order to raise money for scholarships. The sun hadn't even risen when we arrived to serve coffee, donuts, and hot chocolate to the hundreds of hungry students.

Our diversified talents were channeled into various other activities, including the conduction of guided tours at sophomore orientations and ushering at N.H.S. induction.

All our service exemplified the virtues of our organization: Scholarship, Leadership, Courage, and Service.

Local FBLA Member Elected State Officer

Our duties will be to direct the transactions of tomorrow, so we start today in learning about business and industry. Under the direction of Miss Martin, our annual Christmas candle sale was conducted netting $560. Then $50 of the profit were donated to St. John's Mission School in Arizona. Also we collected Betty Crocker coupons, cancelled stamps, and Kool-Aid packages for UNICEF, which helped buy medicine and food for kids overseas.

"I sold $24 worth of candles so I could get some points."

Our president, Anita Bisaha, was elected State Vice-President. During the summer the club financed her presence at FBLA conventions in Harrisburg and Florida.

We have accomplished much while sharpening our skills for regional get-togethers in the spring. There, our typing, bookkeeping, and shorthand knowledge will be put to the test. Meanwhile, we go on trying to change the world a little while educating ourselves.

Candy Stripers

Number 48

Through the Health Careers Club sponsored by Mrs. Balla and Mrs. Martinesko, we acquainted ourselves with various medical careers.

Respiration therapists, practical nurses and X-ray technicians were among our guest speakers.

Through bake sales and membership fees, we raised enough money to award three scholarships at the annual awards assembly in May.

"It's not like a club —
You really learn a lot about different types of medical careers."

Cindy Huselton

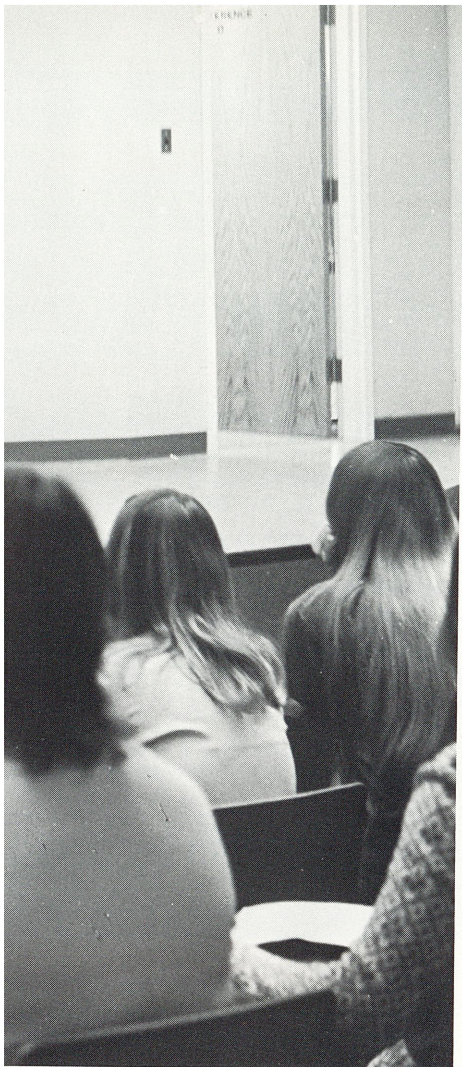

Working after school and on weekends at Citizen's General Hospital offered 27 Candy Stripers and 21 Hospital Team Volunteers an opportunity to observe "first hand" their future responsibilities.

"Magic Squares" Presented To Math Club

The Math Club was a small but important group of students whose interests surround all aspects of this highly diversified field. We devoted our meetings to achieving a better understanding of mathematics through discussions, a field trip to Alcoa, and individual presentations. These presentations covered such interesting topics as "Magic Squares" and "Topdog".

"I thought math was stupid until I found a lot of mathematical concepts have applications in life."

John Koleny

Our club, under the direction of Mrs. Grossheim, included 22 members. We believe in the value of mathematics, not only in our future jobs, but in all we do.

FTA Hosts Workshop

The purpose of our club was to introduce students to the idea of education from the teaching point of view. In February, we hosted a workshop for area schools where we exchanged ideas about club projects, goals, and most of all, about our future ambition — teaching.

"The only problem this club has is that it has Mr. Hartley and myself for advisors."

Mr. Meighan

With money we earned from our dance and our bake sales, we took a guided tour through Clarion State College. Some of us may spend our next few years there receiving knowledge so that in the future we may pass it on to others.

Giant Task Undertaken In New Library

nety percent of our activities were voted to organizing the new library. Our most monumental task involved the moving of all 14,000 books not once, but 5 or 6 times before they finally got to the library. Just when everything was in "Near" perfect condition, or so we thought, we learned that the backs had not been put in the shelves. So, out came all the books." Then, we began again!

cause of the new sound equipment, micro viewers, and self-sustaining copy machine that makes change, workshops were created so that we could learn how to run the equipment. We developed our own special index system for the 150 different magazines so that we could find them more easily.

The crude, archaic method of binding books by drilling holes and sewing them with nylon cord was relieved by a beautiful innovation — a $600 plastic rivet machine that completed the job in 5 seconds.

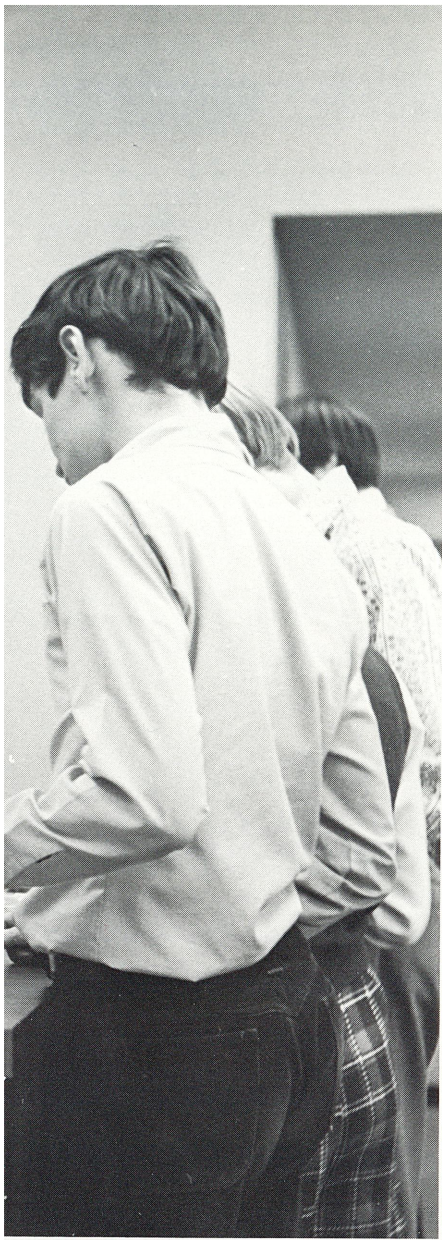

Even though we couldn't find enough people or enough periods in the day, we worked hard. Regardless of what we did or didn't do, we had our annual big steak dinner to wrap things up!

Party Held At Penn Grill

On Tuesday nights after school, we would meet in the audion — all 25 of us. We were known as the German Club, and our favorite pastime was talking.

To gain insight into the people and customs of Germany, presentations were given — very informal, of course.

Our advisor, known to us as "Herry" Pipkins, gave us one big goal to work toward — a summer trip to Germany in several years.

French Caroling Brings Yule Joy

The French Club agenda called for singings which benefitted us in our study of the French language. All meetings were conducted in French, in order that we might learn how to understand the spoken language. We were honored by Mrs. Roberto's presentation of slides from France.

Club Hosts Spanish Night

Familiarization with Spanish culture was the purpose of this year's program. This included a lesson in the art of drinking wine (grape Kool-aid) from a parron.

"The only thing I like about this club is the girls who are in it."

Plinio Nastari

An attempt was made to hold the meetings in Spanish, but this resulted in a "Span-glish" dialect. At one meeting, Joe Piperato related his wild Brazilian adventures. Excursions included a trip to Indiana University to see the film The Hunt and our attendance at a Flemenco show at Carnegie Music Hall.

The year terminated with a Spanish night where we shared food and ideas with invited area schools.

Members Utilize Dues to Increase Coin Collections

Our Coin Club was organized by Mr. Toland to help us learn more about the coins we collect.

As in any new Club, ours started slowly with the writing of our charter and the election of officers. We didn't get into the actual process of collecting coins until well after Christmas.

Our dues served as a savings account for members. Each member had to place at least a quarter a week into the treasury. Then at any time during the year, he was permitted to take money out to purchase coins.

"Our members are fairly interested, though as in every club, there are a few trying to get out of homeroom."

Mr. Toland

With the money our 25 members collected from bake sales, we purchased coin collecting magazines, such as Coin World for our library.

We set up programs for our club members and tried to set up a display for all students.

Our activities included meets with neighboring schools and tournaments between chess members which were started only after collecting enough dues to buy chess boards. These tournaments were devised purely for the sake of competition and were set up by double-elimination to give each competitor a fair chance for the chess crown.

Memorial Honoring Kiski's War Dead Completed

After three years of unfulfilled promises, our main objective again this year was to purchase the bronze plaque to complete the memorial in honor of Kiski's alumni who gave their lives in the Vietnam War. Our candy sales helped us raise funds to meet our goal. We speculated about taking a week-long field trip to Washington D.C. for the Congressional workshops, but... maybe next year.

Rod McKuen Inspires Creative Writers

Our meetings centered around the evaluations of writings submitted by students.

After checking for mechanical errors and possible plagiarism, we began typing pages for our fifth edition of Odes and Ends. On April 19, we took a break to attend Rod McKuen's performance at the Syria Mosque.

"Our club's function was to reflect Kiski at its creative best."

In May, our publication was ready for distribution with more illustrations than before and a new perspective — a poem in Spanish.

Stage Crew Limits Membership

Hard work is indigenous to the Stage Crew. Rough construction was the rule this year as we aided the Drama Club with set construction. Since woodshop was a prerequisite for joining our club, these props presented little problem.

*"Don't ask me for a quote.
See Mr. Tarosky."*

Mr. DeSantis

Too many members in our club would have been a problem while working in the confined spaces of the woodshop. To solve this, we limited our roster to seven members. This gave each member along with our sponsors, Mr. DeSantis and Mr. Tarosky, ample room for our precision work.

Dramatics Program Seeks Change

Following the presentation of Ladies in Retirement on November 22,23, the dramatics department at Kiski Area fell into a state of inactivity.

"I used to think I wanted to be an actor, but after that plan I think I'd better quit."

Andy Bisaha

During the next seven months, Miss Wichrowski and Mr. Varine worked on a temporary program of Improvisational Theatre, but no productions were given.

Hopefully, next year will find all dramatic efforts under the leadership of the English Department.

Concerned Students Fight Pollution

A group of Kiski students concerned with the state of our polluted environment banded together to form a new organization — the Ecology Club, advised by Mr. K. and Mr. Gatto.

"The highlight of the club was when Mr. K. told us about his wife having a baby."

Star Gazers Travel To Buhl

Even years ago Mr. Yajko started our Astronomy Club with the idea of giving those who enjoy astronomy a chance to gaze a little more deeply into the stars.

That chance came throughout the past year as each of our 28 members was permitted to take a telescope home.

"We haven't had any star-gazing parties because we didn't have any money for food."

Aldo Pacchioni

Field trip to Buhl Planetarium was an exciting experience for us and was well worth the work of raising money through bake sales. During some of our meetings, we set up a scope outside to see sun spots, but only when they were extremely large. During the fall, some of us even returned to Kiski at night to see the stars together.

Spider Survives Rocket Club Launch

As members of the Rocket Club, we gave up activity periods and even sacrificed one Saturday for the sake of our launchings. Orbiting above Kiski at 1500-2000 feet altitudes, on occasions, were mice, goldfish, spiders and crickets. One achievement was the survival of one spider. All other casualties were examined after touchdown to determine the effect of the altitude on their systems.

With the money from dues and bake sales we purchased an "Estes Cam-roc", a camera equipped to take aerial photographs. By incorporating the use of "manned rockets", we are broadening our views and the skies above the Big "K".

Officers Hear Stargell's Talk On Sickle Cell

Open to the entire school, the Afro-American Club was established to help the Black student understand himself and his fellow students. We achieved this goal in part through lecture-discussion presentations.

Mrs. Thelma Price, dean at the main campus of Penn State, told us of the special opportunities available to the Black student. Darrell Jefferson, a Kiski alumnus, discussed the need and available openings for more Blacks at the New Kensington extension of Penn State.

"I'm not colored.
I'm Black."

Verdell Nabors

We undertook various projects this year, including a Christmas party, which was given for the children at Day-Care Centers in Vandergrift and North Apollo. We provided gifts and refreshments to make the day particularly joyous for 35 pre-schoolers.

In January, our officers joined officers throughout the area at Valley High School to hear Willie Stargell's talk about Sickle Cell Anemia. This provided an entertaining as well as informative activity to help in our understanding of our people's problems.

It's not the fact that we of the Afro-American Club are black, but that we are people. And people is what it's all about.

Loretto To Pitt — We Believed

Our endless job began at football camp at St. Francis in Loretto. Traveling in terrible fog, we arrived, only to find we didn't have enough signs for the guys' doors!

We planted "Smear Wilkensburg" signs in yards, transformed oranges into black cats and mailed "Big K Letters" all for the future "AA" Champs. We sat together at swimming meets and wrestling matches to spur those deserving teams to victory.

Practicing for basketball season was our real challenge. We gave the guys the old gym and rehearsed in the half-finished new gym. Every time we caused the slightest vibration, tons of dust fell from the ceiling, choking off our cheers!

In spite of it all, none of us would have missed the chance to exemplify the "epitome of the Big K spirit".

Despite the penetrating cold at Pitt Stadium, Leigh Komoroski and Penny Besaha exuberantly display their "Big K" spirit.

"We had to practice in a scrungy old place in three inches of dust!

Club Publicizes "Minor" Sports

Our little corner of the world is the bleachers in the gym. Keeping the kids informed of the less popular sports was a major goal of our KA pep club this year. Each individual "pepper" postered the homerooms, lockers, halls, and buses.

"Would you like to buy a mum?"
Joe Jackson

"No, I already have one . . .
And a Dad too."
Cindy Smith

Selling mums — an annual club project was quite successful. At least we didn't run out like last year — what a relief! Our mum money allowed students to go to the games half price and release their enthusiasm as a whole.

Club Cancels All-Sports Banquet

After lettering in a Varsity sport we were eligible for our reward — a Varsity jacket. One other condition was a $20 deposit which was refunded when we earned 15 service points.

Those of us who wanted our $20 back (and who didn't), slaved at home sports events, selling refreshments, and programs, peddling tickets, and ushering. At basketball games we really had to hustle — we sold everything, except, of course, for a few of our notorious donuts.

"Business is so good that we might have to wash out the paper cups in the back room . . . sort of "recycle" them."
Doug Sober

Despite our money-making efforts, we failed to have our traditional all-sports banquet because of a lack of funds.

Corps Increases — Problems Multiply

Only two weeks after school was out last year, our preparation for this year began. We spent long hours in the summer sun trying to perfect our routines. We grew accustomed to Jean's constructive criticisms.

"We have to, cause Jean said so."

Melissa McSparrin

When school started, it was a rare occasion when we got home before 6:30. Our routines required more props. We had to become "quick-change" artists — especially when we changed from a Spanish senorita to a washerwoman with a bucket and mop.

We lived up to the standards of last year's prize-winning majorettes despite an increase in our corps from 12 to 18 members. Helping us to overcome the obstacles we faced was Miss Golembesky, our new adviser.

Colorguard Earns New Equipment

As the newly formed Kiski Area Color Guard, we are no longer classified as a part of the Marching Band, but as an independent organization. Under the leadership of Miss Linda Rachiatore and Miss Susan Coulter, our number grew from 20 to 24. Uniforms, purchased by the Band Boosters, were a must. Through bake sales and a stand on Pirate Day we raised enough money to purchase new flags and gloves. Culp Awnings donation of vinyl gun cases and flag covers made our outfits complete for any parade.

Botti Rebuilds Big K Band

For all 168 of us, being a member of the Marching Band this year meant more than memorizing music and earning shows. We learned how to adjust to our new director, Mr. Botti, as well as how to lose the Columbus Day Parade. However, after 41 consecutive wins, the latter adjustment was rather difficult — especially when the loss was to Greensburg-Salem.

When band camp began, many of us moaned, "Why does it always rain all summer, and then get so hot the last two weeks of August?" As far as we were concerned, summer was now non-existent and we continued our daily practice routine right into the school year.

"You people march like pregnant elephants"

Mr. Botti

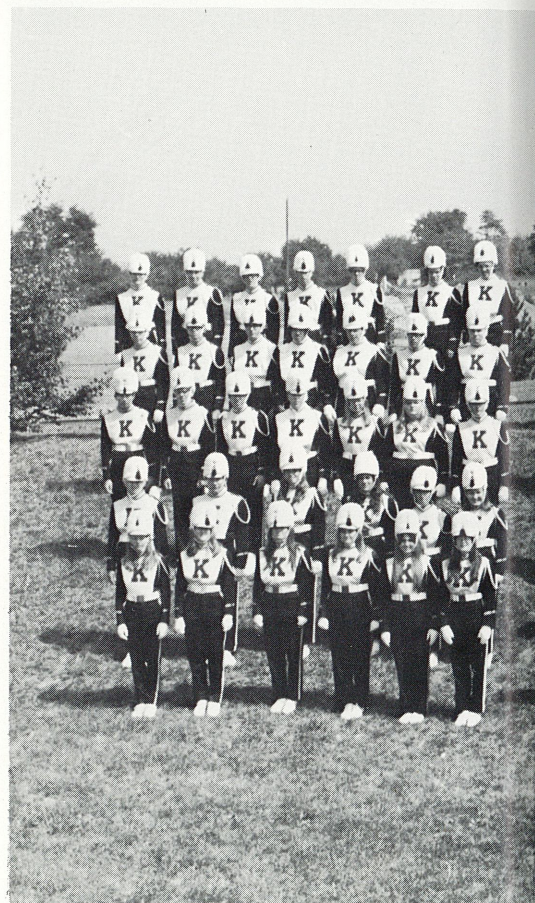

Practicing after school got to be a real pain, especially in late November. Did you ever try playing a clarinet with mittens on, when it is too dark even to see the person marching in front of you?

Going to football games, however, compensated for the tediousness of after school rehearsals. The bus rides meant having tickle battles, listening to Shaeffer's hilarious stories, and joining the "Kumbas" in their "Ho" cheer.

This year we learned that first place wasn't everything. The bond that held us together was the knowledge that we were the Big K band, and to us there was none better.

Music Department Presents "Messiah"

With the assistance of Mr. Wolfgang, Mr. McClelland found it possible to rehearse both the Mixed Chorus and the Concert Choir at the same time, thus eliminating after-school rehearsals.

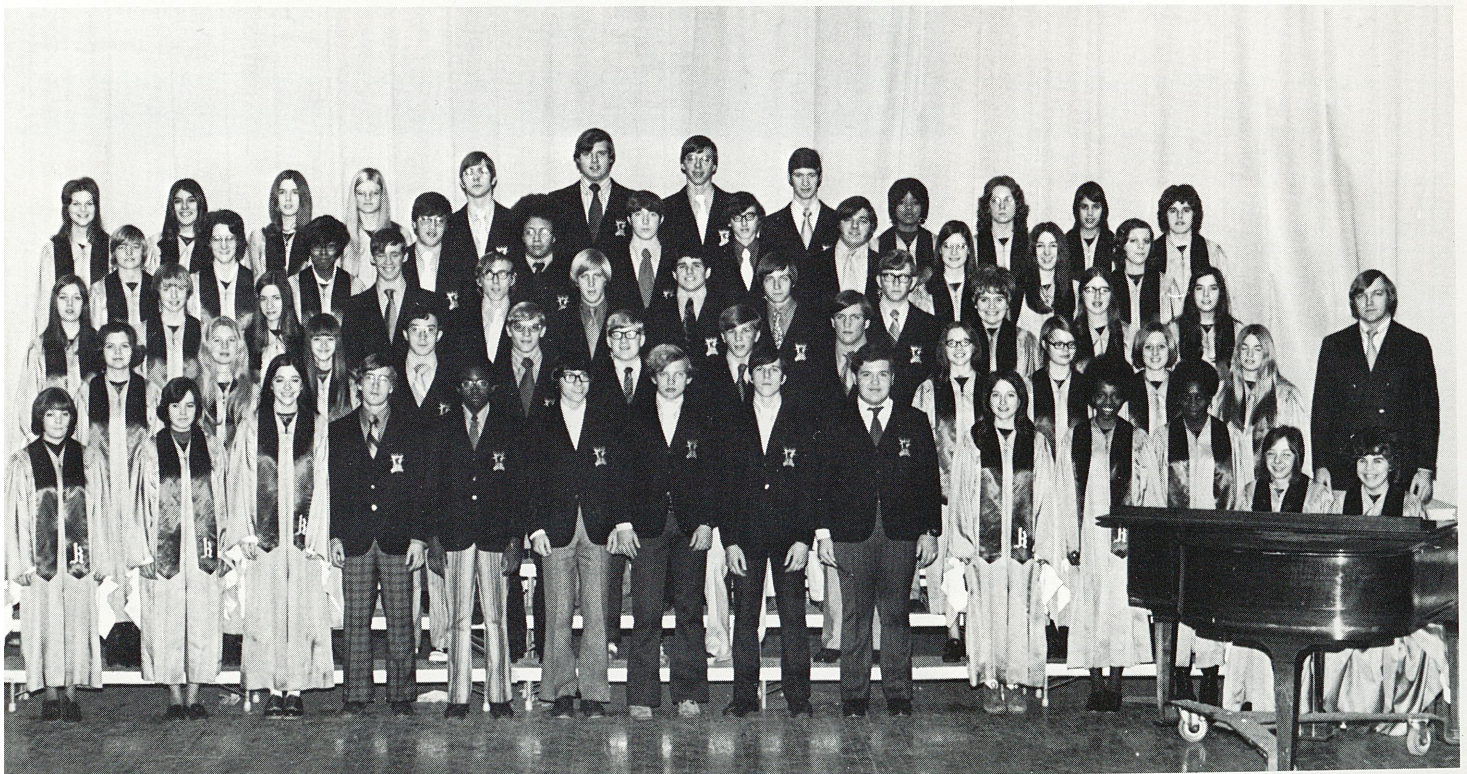

On December 9, the Concert Choir, presented the third bi-annual production of The Messiah.

"I just know I'm going to fall off these risers into the kettle drums."

Kiskizette

Domesticates 101

The printing presses of the Kiskizette were halted for a month last September because of the condition of our "office" — room 101. During the summer, construction workers had "located" our precious materials. To accomplish our reorganization, the workbook staff was "pushed out". Then, a search began for one missing cabinet, two boxes of Gally sheets and a trustworthy camera, which never did show up.

Repeatedly incorrectly identified, Ms. Smith debuted as Mr. Schreffler in the baby picture issue.

... For Unto Us A Book Is Born

In the beginning Tradition created the yearbook. But ours was without form and void; and darkness was upon the faces of the editors ... because we had no "home" and no advisors. And Mr. Miller said, "Let there be light!" And there was Miss Gibson.

And then the yearbook journeyed to the Ohio University Workshop. And on our second day there, we abandoned our labors. (in other words, we escaped through a window and snuck downtown).

On the fourth day (otherwise known as September), Mr. Miller created the SAR Room. And the staff saw that it was good. But they worked to make it better. And then the room became a home ... with flies, cupcakes, Pledge, instruction sheets, a fresh coat of paint, and an orange filing cabinet!!

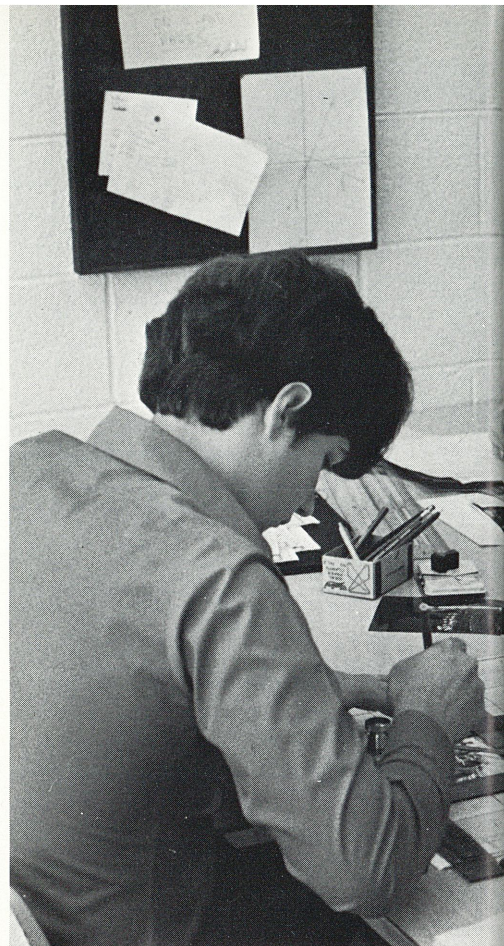

And Hunter said unto his business staff, "Multiply the funds; fill the book with ads, and increase the subscriptions." And the business staff travelth to sell hoagies, host a car wash and sponsor a spaghetti dinner.

And the editors commandeth, "Let us make a book to Kiski's image and likeness — especially likeness. And let it surpasseth any other yearbook." And Gibson said, "All right, people, cut the fooling ...! We have 164 pages to be mailed by 5:00!" And so the staff stayeth and stayeth until the darkness was divided from the light (7:30 to be exact).

And Bertieri said, "It's not my fault we don't have any pictures, I'm only Photography editor!" And Carpentieri said, "Jerome, will you PLEASE get to work and leave Nancy alone!" And Musala said, "Let there be write-ups." And there were. (Six weeks late and half done).

But on the seventh day (after the fifth deadline), we rested from our labors. And Kachik said, "Let us call that which we have made" "Supmac 27." And Gibson said, "If you do I'll ..." And so it was called Campus 72. And at the banquet we saw that which we had made. And we said unto one another, "IT IS GOOD!" — whether you like it or not!

"Rebuilding Year" Results In Unprecedented Third

First, there was a dream. Then the dream became a challenge. From that evening in mid-August in the Chapel at St. Francis, to the locker room at Pitt Stadium, a faith was established, a faith in God, a faith in the coaches, and most of all, a faith in each and every member of the team. It was to carry us to an undefeated 12-0 season, an unprecedented third straight Foothills Conference Championship, and the W.P.I.A.L. "AA" Title.

"First you learned to believe in yourself . . . you learned next to believe in a friend . . . after that, and probably the hardest to achieve, your belief went to God."

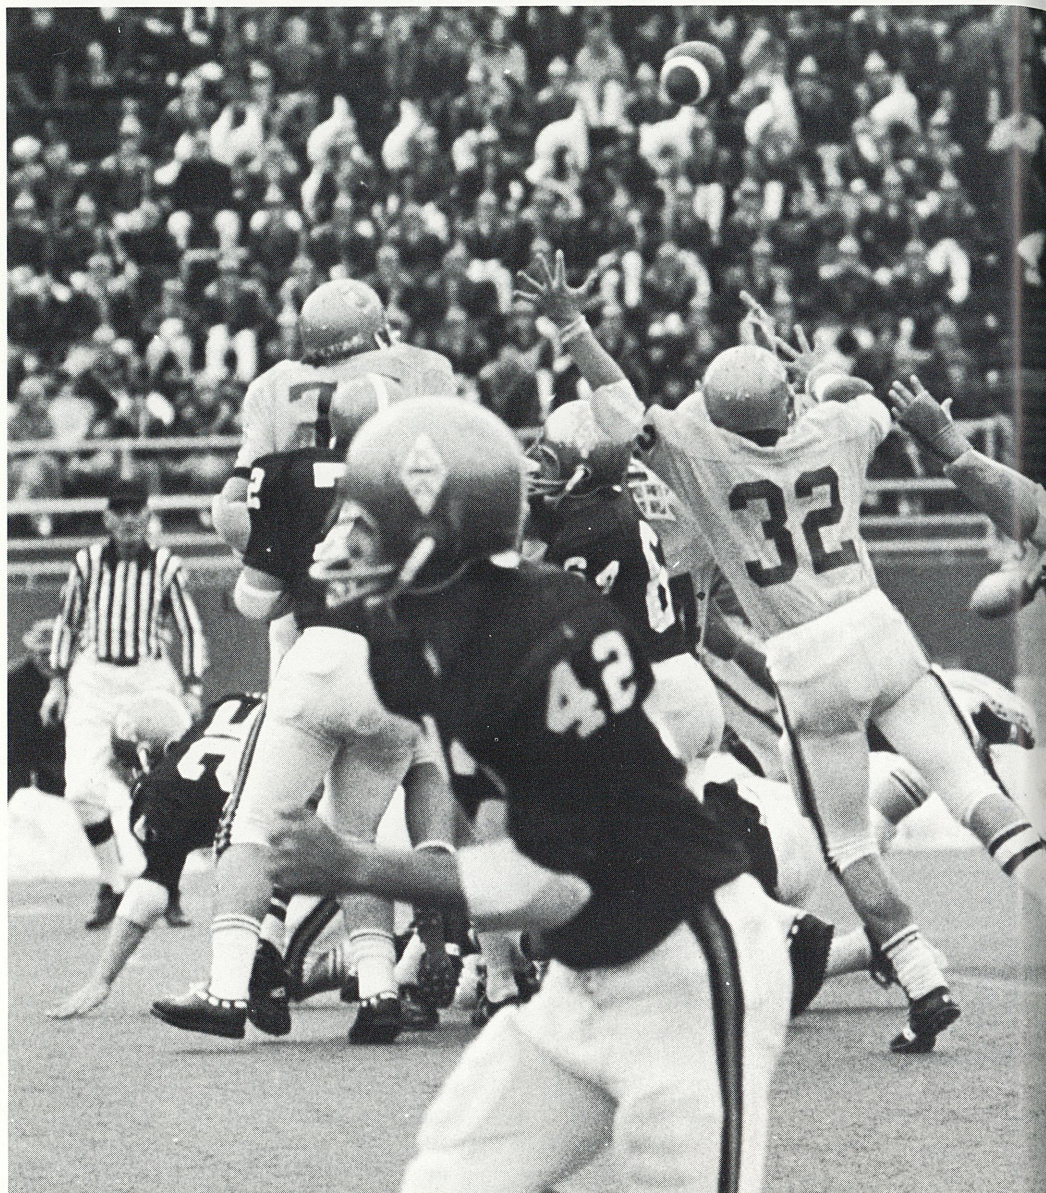

Ronda Schaffer

It was to be a rebuilding year, with people glumly forecasting a mediocre season.

After camp, whose tortures are already infamous, the season began with a satisfying 48-20 win over Morwin which evidenced the strength of Kiski. Then Derry and Latrobe fell by impressive scores, Valley was blanked 44-0, three points coming on a 50-yard field goal by Joe Stone, revealing a useful scoring potential. The next five Foothills' foes fell one-by-one, with Hempfield being the toughest opponent, going down 13-8. We then annihilated Highlands 56-6, setting a new team record.

Next it was Penn Hills in the W.P.I.A.L. play-off. There was "excitement plus" as Kiski had the ball on the Penn Hills fifteen with :37 on the clock, score tied 6-6. But, Joe Stone and his marvelous toe put it through the uprights. The final score 14-6.

It was now time for the final leg of our challenge, the championship game against Thomas-Jefferson at Pitt Stadium. After all the sweat, a labor of a rugged season, we came away with a 16-8 victory and the first W.P.I.A.L. Championship ever at Kiski.

Kiski Golfers Bow To Rival Highlands —

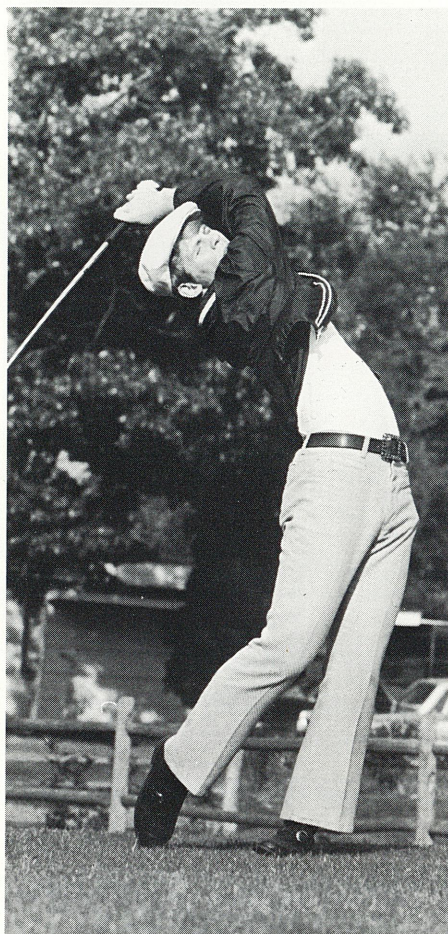

This year presented a singular goal for the golfers — to win the section title. They started well, winning all the exhibition matches. Then section competition began with a crushing loss to Franklin, which was evened out by a forfeit from Kittanning. A split in a final meet then made the record 2-2.

'Due to technical difficulties beyond our control, we came out No. 2; but we try harder.'

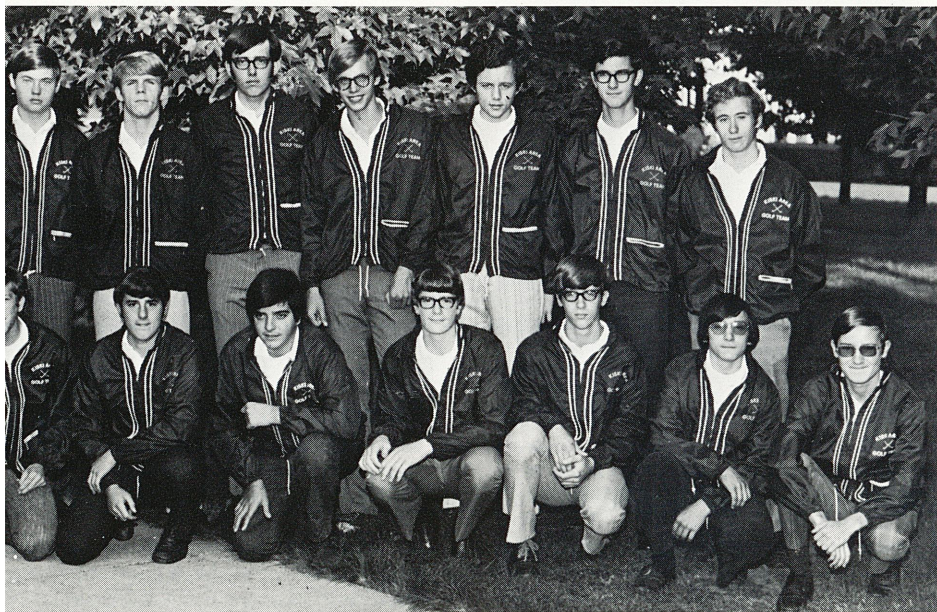

Anthony Butch

From this unimpressive start, five consecutive wins on the strong shooting of "Toad" Butch, John Curley, and Rich Lear brought the team into contention for the title. "Toad" and Rich also furthered their personal records by qualifying in the sectionals of WPIAL competition. The fifth win in the consecutive string was against Highlands, the section leaders. This created a tie for first place.

The fulfillment of their goal lay in the final match, the second meet with Highlands. On the trip home, the boys sang "We're So Sorry, Uncle Albert", to Mr. Ves. They Lost.

Senior Bernard Spix skillfully combines a balanced swing and complete concentration to slam his drive down the fairway.

New Coach and Young Team Comprise Impressive Season —

Starting the year with a new coach and a young team, things looked rather dismal for the Kiski Area cross country team. But Mr. Hauser and his charges were ready to face the task and came up with a 4-6 record. Making this record even more impressive is the fact that most of the losses were by one point margins.

"I want boys who will work for the benefit of the team, not for their own personal glory."

Mr. Hauser

Terry Serena set a new course record of 14:57 for a Kiski runner. Team placings of fourth and eighth in the county and WPIAL meets respectively highlighted this rebuilding season.

Hot In WPIAL Play — Finish In Number 3 Slot

The press said we were hot and cold. The fans could see it. Even through the exhibition season, it was evident that there was a great potential if we didn't have those "off" nights.

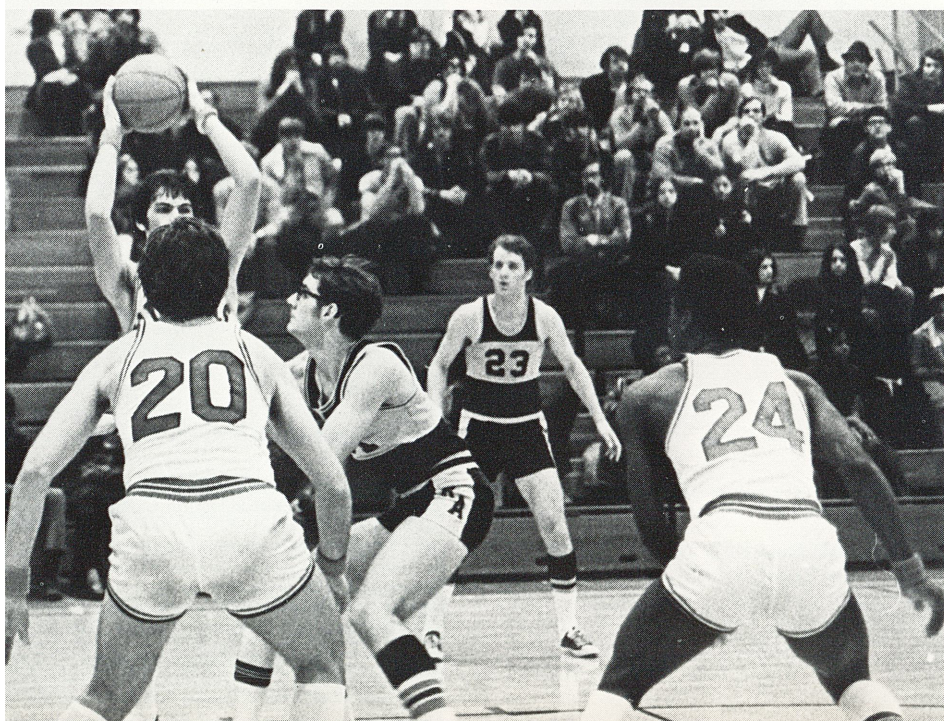

Then came section play. The first two games against Kittanning and Ford City showed a seemingly settled team. Then we turned into a faucet once more against Highlands, losing a 20-point lead in the first half, then the game.

"Record-wise and personnel-wise,
it's one of the best teams
I've ever had."

Coach McDermott

But Valley beat Highlands to create a close race down to that fatal second Highlands — Kiski meeting. Our center-guard, Dennis Kish, fractured an ankle against Valley, losing himself to the team for the season. This put us into a bad position for the second half of section play.

The fateful game came with both team sporting 6-1 records. The title-hungry Rams took advantage of the absence of our playmaker and took sole possession of the section lead and darkened our hopes for the first Basketball championship at Kiski. The year ended with an 8-3 record.

Despite Poor Practicing Facilities, 4-5 Record

We were a united team in more ways than one. Our line-up consisted of two Lawhorns, two Blanciaks, two Pancoes, and two Caprettos. How's that for united effort? It's just like one big family.

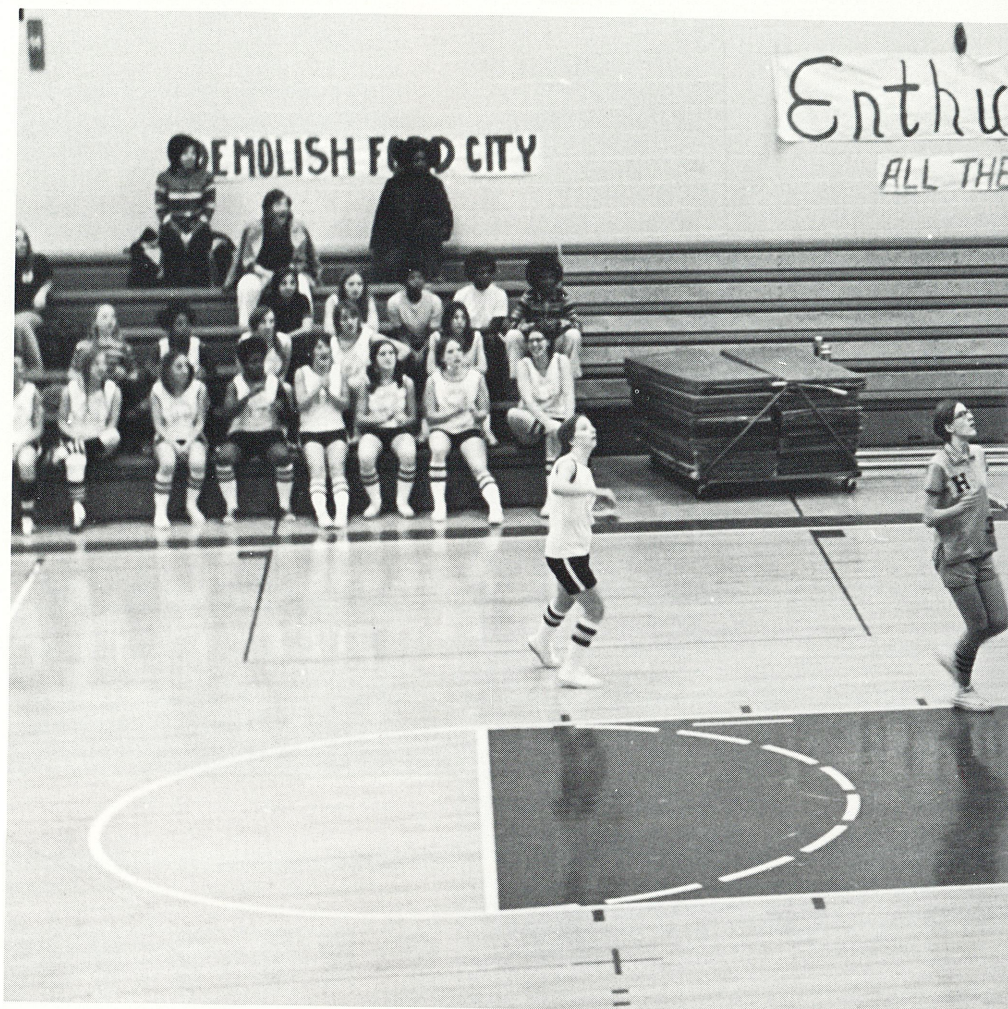

Under the direction of Miss Raschiotore, a faculty member at Washington Jr. High School, we practiced Tuesdays and Wednesdays after school in the E.V. gym. On Saturday mornings, we fought with the guys for the practice room.

"Our practices were really fun — one time Laura came in her pajamas!"

Mary Blanciak

Despite the lack of practicing facilities we came up with a presentable team and a fair record of four wins and five losses.

Our Junior Varsity team faired equally well despite the fact that our manager Diane DeSalvo came down with mono and was unable to aid the team.

A. Sharpshooters Fire Way Into Section Competition

Our '71-72 team was in contention for the section title all year. What kept us there? A new coach, more practice, and some goofing off. Richard "Scratch-o" Cappo, the new coach, allowed some fooling around but when it came time to shoot, we shot well.

"This gun isn't shooting right."

Karen Thompson

"It's not the gun, it's the shooter."

We clinched our first section championship in eight seasons of WPIAL competition. Our team consisted of three returning senior lettermen, but everyone worked together with the coaches, Mr. Answine and Mr. Cernicky, to put it all together.

“Being second in WPIAL gymnastics is like losing at Three Rivers last year.”

Keith Weaver

Brilliant performances by Ray Chlodney, Jim Scalzott, and Keith Koyste combined with a strong team effort resulted in a perfect 8-0 season. We thought we were good when we beat Springdale in exhibition competition, but when we beat Penn Hills, the section title holder, twice in competition, we knew we were good!

LEFT: Before a gymnastic meet, Joe DePanicis perfects his performance on the horse.

ABOVE: WPIAL qualifier, Jim Scalzott, uses the half hour before a meet to polish-up his routine on the parallel bars.

Kiski Matmen Pin Honors In Coaches' Tournament —

Mr. Roberto couldn't beat us all but he sure puts up a tough fight. Practice every night after school in the cafeteria produced mat burns, strained muscles, and a competent wrestling team.

Keeping in our own weight category meant having a measly lettuce and tomato sandwich for lunch and practice in those awful sweat suits.

"Mr. Roberto sure works us hard. It gets so hot in there you can't see out the windows."
Bruce Wing

At Norwin, Kiski wrestlers competed with 15 area schools in the Westmoreland County Coaches Association tournament. Paul Crooks and Jim Culp wrestled their way to become runners-up in the tournament. Bob Banks made it through the whole way to become the W.C.C.A. champion.

Although the Kiski Wrestling Team met more intense competition this year than in previous years, they achieved a rather successful season — closing out the year with 7 wins and 4 losses.

ast Home Meet — Instills Hope For Next Year

Although our season record of 8 wins and 11 losses wasn't that great, we came through with quite a successful season for individual members.

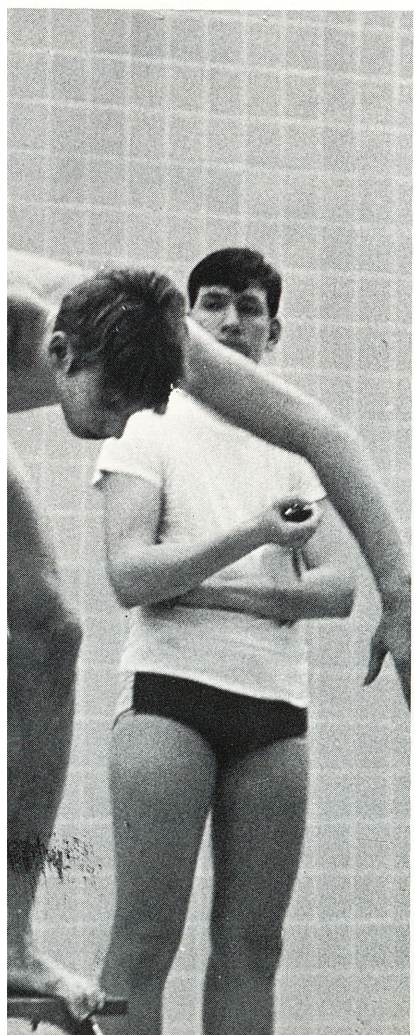

To close our home schedule, we christened the new pool by beating North Hills 81-14. It might have been luck or possibly the new pool, but we took first place in every event in that meet.

"We would have beaten North Hills 81-14 anyway — new pool or no new pool!"

Andy Crossan

George Nicholas set team records in the 200 yard free style, 160 yard individual medley and 100 yard fly while Dave Felix earned honors in the 50 and 60 yard freestyle.

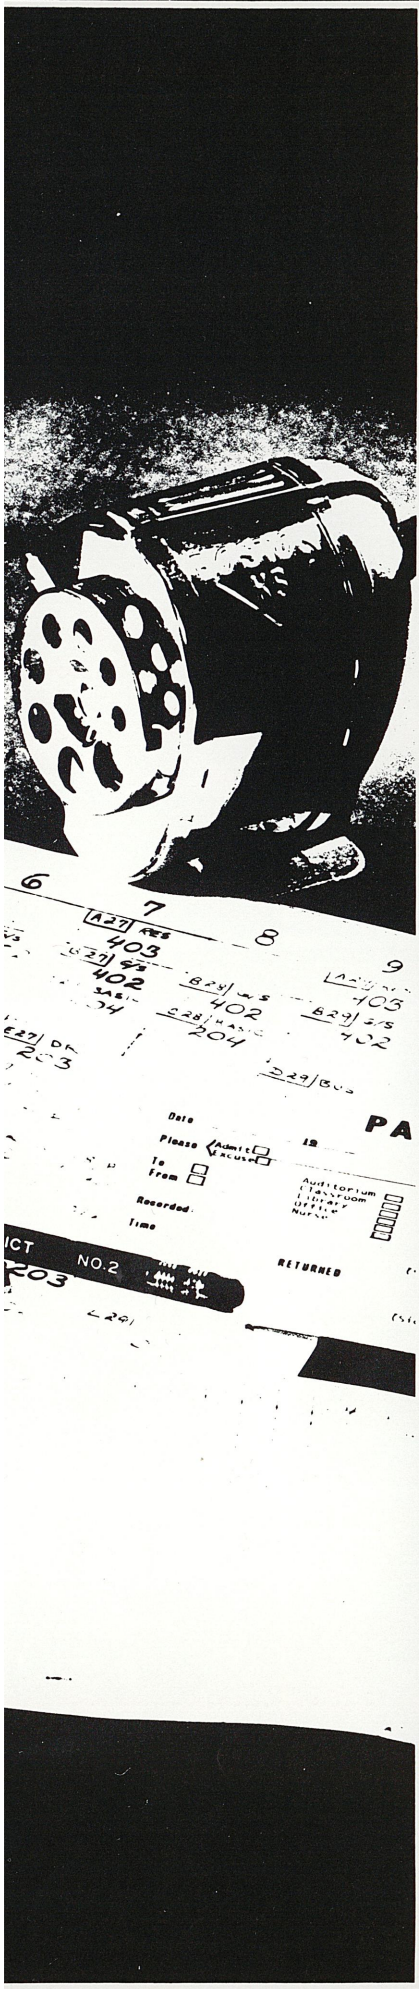

Dave, Kim, Brian, and George all pitched in for the admirable 400 yard relay season record of 3:46.8.

ABOVE: Gulping for air, George Nicholas surges ahead of the others to set another pool record of 1:00.4 in the 100-yard butterfly.

Three years?
WHAT DOES IT ALL MEAN?

Seniors

Unbelievable — it's so hard to realize we're seniors! And nothing better could open the door to our final year at Kiski than the democratic open class elections with Harold Cupec coming out on top. Under his administration we explored all possible means of raising funds.

Postcards, leftover from the 1971 class, soon circulated through every senior locker, begging to be exchanged for a dollar. And we weren't selfish with our money — the class voted to donate $400 to the Children's Hospital.

We were faced with the same worries every graduating class has — and a few new ones besides! By mid-October, we still didn't have a class advisor. Finally, Mrs. Miller "volunteered" after a little friendly persuasion on the part of Mr. Miller.

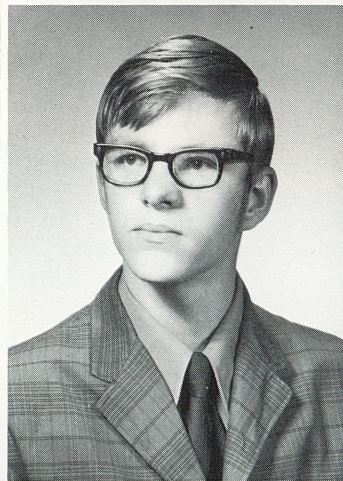

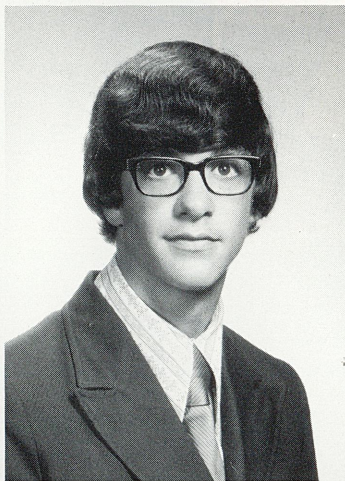

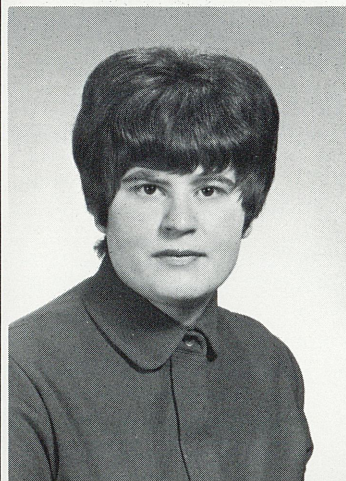

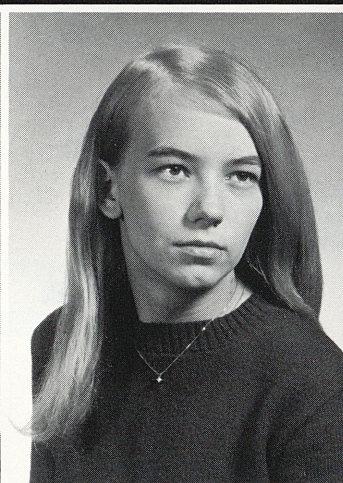

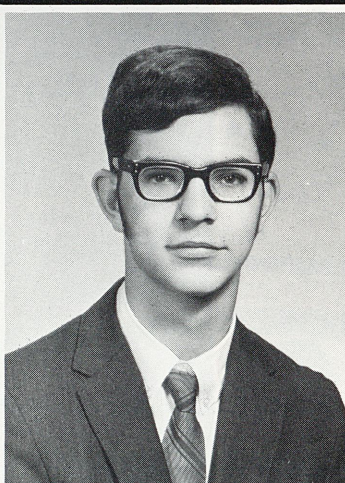

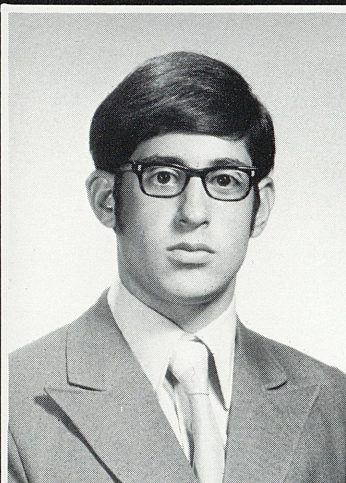

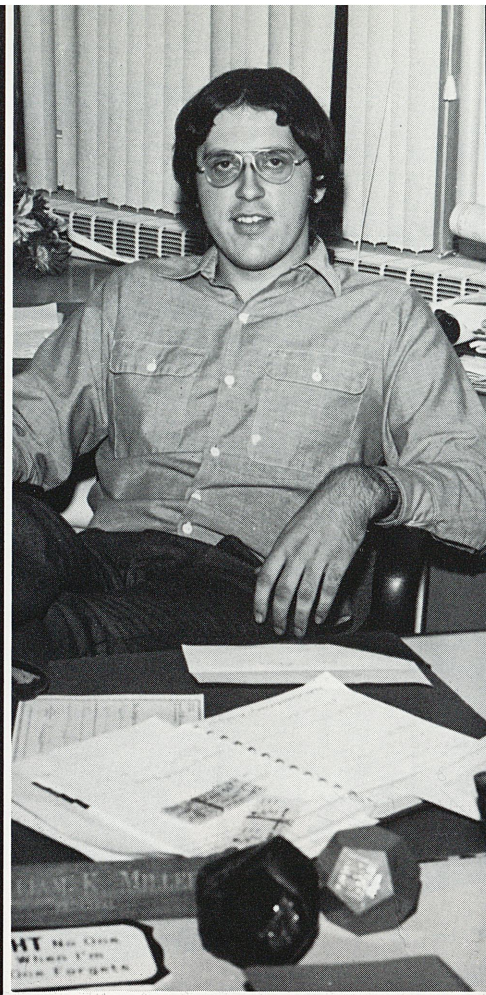

Many of us had the misfortune (or good fortune) of having homerooms in the new wing. By mid-term our lockers still didn't have locks installed so we overcrowded our friends' lockers with assorted paraphernalia. But our homerooms were prestigious with carpeting, phones and air conditioning — which never worked until December!

After Christmas, the prom loomed on the horizon and we started making plans for a fairy tale theme.

It was our guys who won the AA Championship! It was our industrious salesmen who raised more money than any other Senior Class, and it was all 513 of us that made up the one and only truly original Class of '72!

Juniors

We were sandwiched between shy sophomores and apathetic seniors, but we managed to salvage our own identity — the Class of '73. Of course, we followed the usual traditions of selling candy, selecting class colors, and naturally, leaning on the radiators between classes, but the receiving of our new style class rings was proof that we were unique — in more ways than one!

We sponsored a mock basketball game which almost ended in disaster! Meetings were usually "mass confusion incorporated" and had to be juggled around so that they wouldn't conflict with Bill's and Joe's sports' schedules.

I can't come! I have practice.
Bill Marhefka

inally, on January 28, we were ready - but we still could have used an extra three weeks of practice! The football team masqueraded as "stacked" cheerleaders, and our own "sexy" Gum-Zum girls sold refreshments and collected tickets.

light down to the final seconds, it was a tough battle between "The Forces of Evil" - and the "All Americans". With girls tied to guys, it was hard to tell if the game was coming or going!

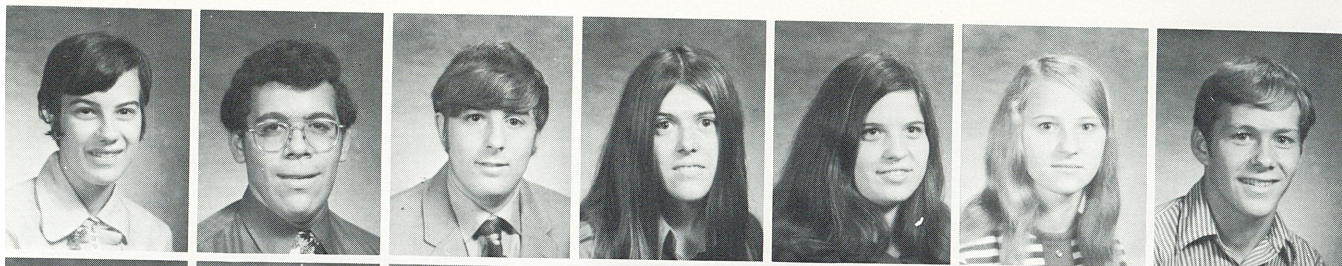

As Juniors, we also had the usual ups and downs. Being in homeroom 401 meant being "isolated" from the Junior building, but it was always an advantage if you had a Senior boyfriend. And there were always those boring health classes, but then that meant gym only two times a week.

This year were a little braver, a little more restless, and a lot more "insane" than we had ever been before — and we loved every minute!

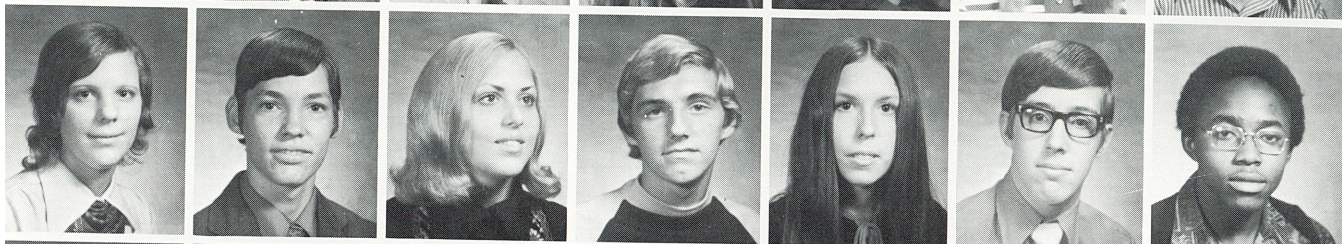

Members of the Junior Class impatiently crowd around the Balfour representatives to pick up their identifying symbol — the "new" class rings.

During the Latrobe pre-game show, proud and patriotic Kiski Area colorguard stands at attention for the playing of our National Anthem.

Sophomores

That first day — we waited anxiously in our buses anticipating our birth into the unknown world of Kiski. As we stumbled from the bus, the smiling faces of gold-jacketed football players greeted us.

After being viciously attacked by shin-eating flower-pots and climbing over verbal obstacles, we made our way to our homerooms and recovered from the fear of being lost forever in the sea of people.

"I thought coming to Kiski you'd lose your individuality.
But then I found out you never had it in Junior High.
You're more an individual here.
You have to be."

Loretta Mirandola

With the aid of our advisor, Mr. Coffman, and the leadership of our president, Tom Kovalcik, we managed to collect our class dues and make plans for our first year at Kiski.

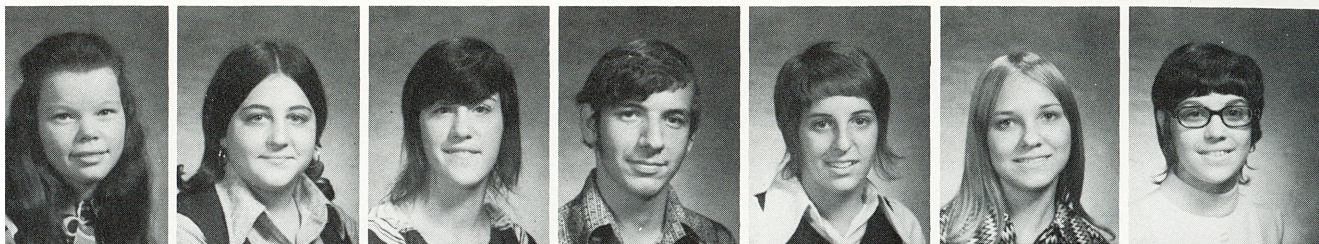

With much apprehension, we followed the Pep Band to our first pep assembly. Crowded in the gym we became aware of our position at the Big K.

Eventually we joined our 620 members and formed the largest class in the history of Kiski — the class of '74.

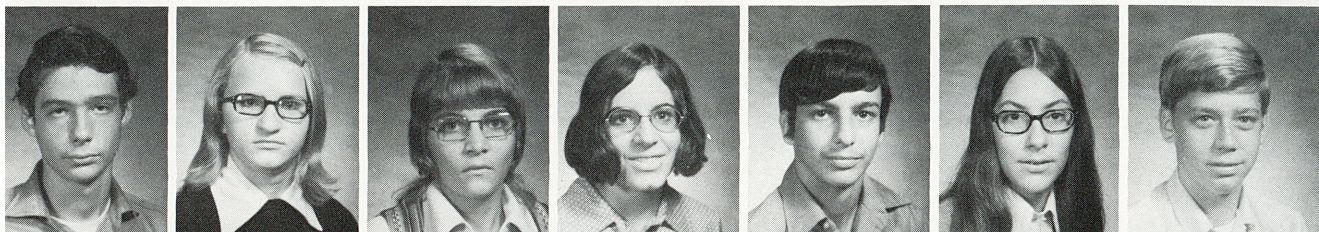

Sophomore Class Officers: Adeline Capretto, secretary; Tom Kavalcik, president; Pam Phillips, treasurer; Kim Lang, vice president.

Administration

The administration, this year, underwent a period of transition. Along with welcoming Mr. Frederick as new assistant principal, the mammoth task of relocating Mr. Miller's office was undertaken.

"What one approves, another scorns,
And thus his nature each discloses;
Some find the rosebush full of thorns,
I find the thornbush full of roses."
Mr. Miller

Coupled with these responsibilities, they waded through mounds of red tape concerning the new building construction. The preparation of facilities for the upcoming school year was administered from half-renovated, dustfilled offices during the summer. And when school finally resumed, the situation wasn't much improved.

But despite these handicaps, school business rolled on with little signs of strain.

FACULTY

Educating, advising, influencing. These are the goals of Kiski's faculty. The 83 teachers at the Big K have the rough job of training over 1600 students for the adult world. Ranging from 21 to 59 years of age, our faculty is "one of the most selective groups of men and women a high school can have."

Teachers took advantage of the new faculty lounge and workroom, where they went to "relax, and recuperate."

"Too many teachers think that all we have to do is their subject."

Debbie Hepburn

At Kiski, both students and teachers make a special effort to suppress the "educate-to-hate" syndrom. Learning isn't confined to students . . .

Remember peoples, they pay me to teach . . . not to make friends.

What does it all mean? . . .

A detailed blueprint of familiar structures, a black on white outline of a mass of buildings called Kiski.

As sophomores you struggled with stubborn locker combinations,

As Juniors you had your first taste of college boards,

And as Seniors, you "couldn't wait to get out."

But it was here, within this blueprint, that you made friends — and in the process, you made memories.

Here you built settings for Ladies in Retirement, and designed the prom — and in the process, developed creativity. You sweated and swore through 10 sets of "burpies," and somehow realized that both body and mind need exercise.

And somewhere between 8:15 and 3:30, you even got an education.

You cheered at Pitt Stadium, you debated in P. O. D.

you laughed at lunchtime.

And sometimes you cried . . .

The footprints are yours — you left your impact.

Now it's time to focus on tomorrow . . .

Profit from your own decisions, suffer from your own mistakes.

Yesterday belongs to the past — the future belongs to you.

What does it all mean? . . .

You decide —

It's whatever you make of it.
